Careless Cyclists :
Suggested Means to Curb

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—The numerous comments regarding cycling and cyclists that have appeared in your paper, has given a great deal of food for thought.

I am not writing as a cyclist, although my house-hold has seven bicycles, but as a motorist. Living on Yu Yuen Road it is a nerve racking ride as this road seems to be the practice ground for beginners, trick cyclists, and the inconsiderate ones.

My chauffeurs are both careful and good drivers, being in my employ for many years, but on a number of occasions they have been within a hair's breath of an accident, due to the cyclist.

This morning's incident is a good illustration: while proceeding down Yu Yuen Road, two children about 12 years of age came out of one of the lanes, and being unable to control their machines came right across the road and fell in front of my car. My chauffeur with great presence of mind stopped the car, otherwise, both would have been in the hospital or killed.

This did not leave my nerves in a good condition, and when I got to Bubbling Well at the end of Yu Yuen Road, the mass of cyclists roaming all over the road made it worse. The police would do a good act if they would give this particular section a little attention from 8.15 to 9.30 a.m. 11.30 to 2.30 p.m. and 3.30 to 6 p.m. Unfortunately I use this part eight to a dozen times a day, and I am always thankful when this point is passed. I am giving this as an illustration and now I come to the point I wish to outline.

Motor drivers must go through an examination and test before they are allowed to drive for which they receive their licence; when they are at fault for an accident they receive punishment in a fine, suspension of license, or jail.

Why not install the same system with the cyclists? The safety of the public at large must be considered, and yet the majority of cyclists pay not the least attention to the rules of the road, and the safety of others. The area of Shanghai is very small and the number of cyclists enormous.

Why not have this training track which would have sufficient grounds to put each cyclist through a proper training course regarding cross-road signals, proper control of their machines, and correct rules of the road?

The Shanghai Wheelers seem to be doing a lot of good work among its members regarding rules of the road, and no doubt they could give this tuition of which a certificate would be issued to the S.M.C. or a final test could be conducted with an S.M.C. official in charge; should the final pass the acid test a license would be issued.

A cyclist who breaks the rules would be treated the same as a motorist, and liable to punishment. I feel confident that should a system like this be enforced it will reduce the street accidents to 50 per cent. of what they are at present. There was a lot of money spent on the Safety First campaign week but the majority of cyclists did not know what it was all about. Therefore, a system of this nature is well worth a careful consideration should the S.M.C. respect the nerves of its rate-paying public as well as the public's safety.

Comic Dog Show :
Thoroughbreds Want Chance

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—With reference to the "Comic Dog Show" which is to be held on Sunday next, may I be permitted to make a suggestion through your columns to the sponsors?

I wish to enter my dogs and I have many friends who desire to do likewise, but fortunately our dogs are not freaks, neither have they the longest tails, etc., etc. They are just good thoroughbreds, but both they and I desire to help the funds of the S.S.P.C.A.

In England and Ireland these shows are frequently held in the cause of charity, and with the sanction of the Kennel Club, but several classes for thoroughbreds are usually included.

Could not the sponsors of Shanghai's Comic Dog Show obtain permission from the China Kennel Club to do likewise?

If they fail to do so, they are overlooking a good source of revenue, as I believe I am correct in stating that there are far more thoroughbreds kept as pets in Shanghai than wonks.

To prevent acid comments from owners of "just dogs," I hasten to add that there is in this suggestion no desire to steal the thunder of the wonks—let them have their day by all means, and give them the majority of the classes, but just let the dogs who know their ancestors get a nose in.

Avenue Haig :
A Badly Flooded Brook

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—Immediately opposite to the Brookside Apartments on Avenue Haig and in line with the back of the tennis courts of the German Garden Club, there is a brook from which the apartment house gets its name. This brook has for a long time been more or less filled with filth from the numerous squatter's huts and small factories that have sprung into existence in the course of the last eighteen months. The brook cannot now cope with the water that runs into it, with consequent flooding, and inky black water has been standing there for the last four weeks. There is, however, another factor that makes the condition one that requires immediate attention. The brook is somehow or another connected with the playing fields of the Cathedral Girls' School, and when there are heavy rains, the water from the filthy brook floods the school fields. I need not say any more, enough is indicated here to demand immediate attention.

Chopin:
Polish Not German

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—Yesterday by accident I tuned in on the German broadcasting hour and heard the announcer make a statement from which one could gather that Fr. Chopin was French.

In order to clarify this matter, please note the following biographical details regarding Fr. Chopin.

His father, Nikolaus Chopin, emigrated to Poland from Marainville, France, and was a tutor of Countess Skarbek's sons, at Zelazowa Wola, six miles from Warsaw.

In 1806 he married Miss Justina Krzyzanowska, a Polish girl. Fr. Chopin was born at Zelazowa Wola at 6 p.m. on February 22, 1810. He died in Paris, on October 17, 1849 (at 2 a.m.).

Fr. Chopin considered himself to be Polish.

I would suggest that the radio-announcer of the German broadcasting hour should read the book by Guy de Pourtales entitled "Der Blaue Kiang"—translated into German by Herman Faulein, Urban Verlag Freiburg I. Br. 1928.

Snakes :
Found in Coolie's Hat

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—Once, whilst living on North Soochow Road, we also had a visit from a snake, which crawled inside our coolie's hat, and caused quite a sensation when the coolie went to put his hat on.

Enquiry from those best informed elicited the information that many snakes made their homes in the drains and occasionally ventured out of their holes for fresh air.

Since I understand that Avenue Joffre also suffers from floods on rainy days, I think it is quite possible that the drains nowadays are getting too bad even for self-respecting snakes, and probably other parts of the Western Districts will soon be experiencing such reptilian invasion.

A Decoration :
What Others Overlooked

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—Allow me to encroach upon your valuable space in stating a view that appears to have been overlooked by your previous correspondents.

It is a well-known fact that those Banana Clippers usually have a very high contract speed, at which they are run only when having a cargo of perishable fruit on board, otherwise the master is ordered by his owners to run at "economical speed," which may be considerably below the top speed.

The economical considerations for doing this is clearly expounded in the letter of your correspondent M.I.M.E.

MASTER MARINER.

Shanghai, Nov. 9.

Seventy Years Ago

FROM THE "NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS," OF NOVEMBER 12, 1869

In exact according with custom and usage, and the practice of the ancients, the Taotai of Shanghai has issued a manifesto. It is in a certain sense an edifying document, and might really from its apparent genuineness, impose on the unwary reader. What could be more satisfactory than to learn that the chief civil Magistrate "in the discharge of his public duties, invariably acts on his own convictions of what is right; neither giving credence to the representations of others nor in the least degree allowing himself to be influenced by private representations."

DOES THE "HEALA" RAY REALLY HEAL?

READ The Following AMAZING UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY :

Noted Radiologist of Famous Local Hospital testifies :

"The 'Heala' Infra Red Apparatus I found quite satisfactory."

PERSISTENT PAIN BANISHED

"I beg to convey to you my great appreciation of the treatment and benefits derived from a short course of your lamps. My treatment started on the 10th April, and quickly started moving the source of the trouble. Each time that the Rays were applied, almost immediate relief was experienced.

"Since the 24th February I was in constant pain through Gout, Rheumatism, and Arthritis, and had taken many medicines.

"I was bedridden on the 13th and 14th April, and had to send for your Rays. On the 15th I was on crutches and was very much easier, and on the 16th I was able to attend my business. Since that date I have suffered no pain, and am able to go about as normal and to play games."

"IT SEEMED INCREDIBLE !"

"Some weeks have elapsed since I finished my treatments for abdominal adhesions with the 'Heala' Ray, and the feeling of internal ease continues, my organic reactions now being so normal that I almost forget they once inconvenienced me.

"It seems incredible that I endured so many years of discomfort and tried so many ineffective remedies, when I have found relief in so short a time."

ARTHRITIS CURED

"I received a course of Ray treatment from you in January last for the complaint of Arthritis and am happy to say that the treatment has been most efficacious, as there has been no recurrence of the trouble since that time. In the past other treatments failed to give relief, whereas with the application of your Rays there was a gradual disappearance of the trouble from the beginning."

DEAFNESS CURED !

"I was suffering from in inflammation of the aural canal, resulting in almost complete deafness. Your treatment was recommended to me by a friend, and although I was sceptical on the principle of 'trying anything once' I gave it a trial with excellent and surprising results. My hearing has now been completely restored."

"EXCEEDED ALL EXPECTATIONS !"

"Having suffered many years from an ulcerated stomach, I was eventually operated upon, and thought all my troubles were finished. But since then any slight excess in eating or drinking has brought on the old pains, and I was advised to take a course of your 'Heala' Rays.

"The benefit I have derived from the six treatments I have taken has exceeded all my expectations and I have no hesitation in recommending your treatment to anyone suffering from stomach troubles."

STOMACH ULCERS GONE !

"I want to thank your company for the sympathetic attention shown to me during my recent illness. The Health-Ray treatment has proved so beneficial that, as you are aware, I decided to buy an apparatus. The pains resulting from the Ulcers in my stomach have entirely gone, and

I now feel like a different man, especially as these pains have bothered me for the last six years. My wife also has received great benefit from the treatment. The inflammation has entirely disappeared from her face—and, furthermore, she has lost all the small wrinkles she had on her face.

"I shall heartily recommend the Health-Ray treatment to all I know, but in the meantime can only thank the stars that I took the courage to call on you for a consultation."

WHOLE FAMILY BENEFITS !

"Suffering badly with rheumatic pains, I, in February last, purchased an "Heala" apparatus from you, and I feel I really must write you and tell you what immense benefit I have got from it . . . All my pains have disappeared, and I would not be without my "Heala" for any money. My family have also got great benefit from its use in colds, and bronchitis etc."

ENTIRE SATISFACTION !

"Please send a representative to collect the Heala Ray lamp I hired from you one month ago to-day. The lamp has given complete satisfaction and should I require it in the future, I shall let you know."

EFFECTS MAGICAL !

"Enclosed please find my cheque for payment of the Radigam you supplied. As you know I already have a Heala-Ray lamp and Emanator and I have no hesitation in saying that myself and family have all derived great benefit from their use. The lamp has been successful in the treatment of sciatica, bronchial affections, ankle and wrist sprains, water on the knee etc. In the arresting of a common cold, if used immediately the cold appears, its effect is magical. While under treatment for a groggy knee. I used the lamp without at first telling the doctor. When he was told he said he could not recommend any better treatment. The emanator is in constant use and, now I have the pad, I feel sure all our aches and pains will be things of the past."

COMPLETELY CURED

"Having been troubled with rheumatism in my hips and back, I obtained some relief by a Jap giving electric massage. With five days treatment completely cured by Health Rays."

WONDERFUL RESULTS !

"I take this opportunity to inform you of my thankfulness and appreciation for the wonderful result of my left arm, derived from your Heala Ray. About a month ago, I was attacked with a very bad case of arthritis on my left arm and shoulder, from which I was only able to move my hand and forearm up to my waistline with great pain and I could not sleep at night due to the continuous pain, but after taking the Heala Ray for about a month, I am now very much improved and am able to resume my office work and daily routines nearly as normal and am able to have very much better sleeps at night. I feel that with a few more radiations, I'll be completely cured . . . I do not hesitate in recommending the "Heala-Ray" to any person."

The above letters are entirely unsolicited: the originals can be seen at our Offices by any bona-fide enquirers.

RADIATIONS GIVEN, AT ANY TIME, AT REDUCED RATES ! PHYSICIAN IN ATTENDANCE.

An interesting booklet fully describing the "Heala" Ray will be gladly sent on request: and if you suffer at all, we are convinced that a visit to our Clinic will result in your speedy relief, eventual cure, and entire satisfaction. The "HEALA" Ray must not be confused with the Ultra-Violet Ray, or Artificial Sunlight! It is quite different: the "Heala" Ray really cures, and no goggles or glasses are worn!

THE "HEALA" APPARATUS CAN ALSO BE HIRED.

British Boys in Active Service

Of All Ages and Classes They Play Vital Parts in Essential Work at Home

By F. Buckley Hargreaves

In the last great war of 1914-1918, the front line was where the soldiers to the opposing armies met. Since then the aeroplane has transformed the whole character of war, it has brought the shadow of war to the homes of the civilian populations behind the lines.

The greater part of Europe today lies under the shadow of the bomber. Every civilian, man and woman, boy and girl, knows that. So it is not surprising to find that boys are playing a large part in the war on the home front.

Five days after war was declared on September 3, the Prime Minister, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, announced among other items in his review of Home Defence services, that:—

1,475,000 children and mothers had been evacuated from the towns and cities to the country.

That 200,200 hospital beds were ready to treat air raid casualties—56,500 in London alone, with 11,000 nurses and 4,000 assistant nurses.

That over 50,000 auxiliary nurses had joined the Civil Nurses Reserve for service in Hospitals and first aid posts, and nearly 2,500 doctors had accepted enrolment in the Emergency Medical Service.

That in London alone there were over 18,000 fire pumps ready for action as against 125 in peacetime.

This was all part of the nation's voluntary effort to meet a grave emergency and, as the Prime Minister spoke and gave those heartening figures to the House of Commons, I was thinking of the great army of boys who were taking part in this great scheme of civil defence.

Boy Scouts, Sea Scouts, Rovers and members of the Officers Training Corps; boys of all ages and classes throughout the British Isles, are taking a vital part in essential work at home. Individual members of a large organization like the Boy Scouts which number half a million to the humblest boy's club in London's dockland, are playing their part.

Boy Scouts Active

Over 18,000 boy scouts have earned the right to wear the Scout National Service badge which means that they have been trained in first aid and taken a gas course. Some of them act as messengers, others as gas mask distributors, as air-raid "runners" and telephone operators. You'll see them guarding hospitals, filling sandbags, helping to erect air raid shelters.

Bands of them are canvassing for books and magazines for hospitals, other groups are attached to hospitals ready to call up blood donors who have promised their blood in transfusion cases who can't be reached by telephone.

Some of the younger ones, determined to play their small part are guiding blind people about in the black-out and standing by to escort the deaf and the infirm to the nearest air-raid shelters in the event of an air raid. Whatever happens to be the most urgent need of a particular locality, there you will find boys of the cadet corps, the boy scouts, the cadets of the St. John Ambulance Brigade and all the other youth organizations playing their part.

With the mass evacuation of schoolchildren from London and the principal cities the despatch arrangements were straightforward and could be planned well in advance. It was recognized that special difficulties would be encountered at the reception areas when trainloads of small children and mothers arrived and had to be billeted with other families.

It was here, in the reception areas that the boys proved to be a vital factor in the gigantic evacuation scheme. They were at home while the evacuees were strangers and the boys acted as guides they handled luggage, they distributed clothes and they helped to carry through the detraining arrangements in such a way that the Prime Minister was able to report to the House of Commons that the whole scheme had been carried through without a single hitch.

Auxiliary Fire Service

I have watched the men and women of the Auxiliary Fire Services in training but neither the men nor the women have shown quite the same keenness as the boys who act as messengers. Time and time again I've seen boys, on their bicycles, get through to the sub-stations with their reports before the telephone message. In an air-raid of course telephones may well be out of action and these messenger boys are a vital part of the whole voluntary fire-fighting force which has been created to supplement the normal fire brigade services.

In London, the Sea Scouts who have their headquarters on the river Thames in the famous Antarctic exploration ship, Captain Scott's Discovery, have offered their services to the Port of London Authority for their river emergency services which are designed to protect shipping in the river and the Port of London.

This is real work of vital national importance because one third of the shipping of the British Isles sails into the Port of London. All the way from the mouth of the river to Hammersmith, miles beyond the Docks, they have established signal stations and are ready, day and night, to carry messages and to help keep the river clear for traffic.

Soviet Timber Arrives In England

London, Nov. 9.

Six cargoes of Soviet timber has already arrived in England under the Anglo-Soviet barter agreement, Mr. Edward Leslie Burgin, Supply Minister, revealed in the House of Commons yesterday. He added that Britain, in return, will supply the Soviet with rubber and tin. Britain has chartered 29 ships for the transport of timber from Russia, Mr. Burgin said.—United Press.

M. Spaak Receives Dutch, Danish, Polish Envoys

Brussels, Nov. 9.

On his return from The Hague, whither he accompanied King Leopold for conferences with Queen Wilhelmina, M. Spaak, Belgian Foreign Minister, received the Netherlands, Danish and Polish Ministers. The topics discussed were not revealed.—Reuter.

CONTRACT

By Albert H. Morehead

(In the New York "Times")

Whoever wishes to give the countless ladies' afternoon bridge groups in America their rules for running bridge parties risks unpopularity if he makes his code too logical. Authorities for many years have crusaded for the scoring of net results: that is, if a player scores 600 points on a set of deals and her opponents score 1,000, she loses 400 points. The ladies often object. They don't mind letting the opponents have their 1,000 points, but they want to keep their 600. The two following deals illustrate what often happens.

	♠ 6 3 ♡ 10 7 5 ◇ J 8 7 ♣ J 9 6 4 2
♠ J 7 5 2 ♡ K 6 ◇ Q 10 6 2 ♣ A Q 10	WEST / EAST	♠ 9 8 4 ♡ A J 9 2 ◇ A K 5 3 ♣ K 3
	♠ A K Q 10 ♡ Q 8 4 3 ◇ 9 4 ♣ 8 7 5

With North dealer and East-West vulnerable, the bidding was:

North	East	South	West
Pass	1 Heart	1 Spade	2 No trump
Pass	3 No trump	4 Spades	Double
Pass	Pass

Doubling is barred at some bridge parties, but apparently it was permitted at this one. South could have been held to three tricks, but such defence would have been almost double-dummy. The actual score was down six tricks. East-West scored 1,100 points, but North-South scored 100 points for honours, which was the inadequate reason for South's overbid.

Example of Deft Play

In the same game the South hand in this deal was brought to a fine result, whether South's handling of the small cards was sound, accidental or inspired.

	♠ 9 7 4 3 ♡ A K ◇ J 10 4 3 ♣ A K 3
♠ K Q J 6 ♡ 10 8 6 ◇ A 9 6 5 ♣ J 5	WEST / EAST	♠ 8 5 2 ♡ Q 7 4 3 ◇ K Q ♣ Q 8 6 2
	♠ A 10 ♡ J 9 5 2 ◇ 8 7 2 ♣ 10 9 7 4

North dealt; both sides were vulnerable. The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 Club	Pass	1 No trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

Experts would prefer a response of one heart or two clubs on the South hand, but the no-trump bid worked out well.

West opened the spade king, which South won. The diamond 7 was led and North played a low diamond, East taking the queen. East threw dummy in with a heart, was thrown back in by a low diamond lead from dummy, and continued hearts. Dummy now led a low spade, South's 10 losing to West's jack.

West led the heart 10, on which dummy's low club was thrown. East won and put dummy back in with a club. Declarer again chose the proper card, leading dummy's 9 of spades, dropping the 8 and making the 7 good after West took her queen. West now could not prevent dummy from winning the spade, a diamond and the remaining high club, and South made her contract.

The North-South score on this deal was 90 points, 40 as a trick-score plus a 50-point bonus given, under present scoring, for making the contract.

No official rules countenance any scoring except the net plus-or-minus total, but cumulative scoring is still widely played.

Quick Decision Wins

The standard of play in the average bridge party may be of doubtful excellence, but now and then a gem of clever or sound play is encountered. The folllowing is an excellent example:

	♠ K Q 6 5 ♡ J 6 3 ◇ 7 2 ♣ A 7 6 2
♠ 9 7 3 ♡ A 8 7 5 2 ◇ A 10 3 ♣ J 4	WEST / EAST	♠ J 10 4 2 ♡ Q 9 4 ◇ Q J 5 ♣ 9 8 3
	♠ A 8 ♡ K 10 ◇ K 9 8 6 4 ♣ K Q 10 5

South dealt, with East-West vulnerable. The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 Diamond	Pass	1 Spade	Pass
1 No trump	Pass	2 No trump	Pass
3 No trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened the five of hearts. Dummy played low, East properly finessed with the nine, and South took the ten. South promptly led the king of diamonds. West played a low diamond, letting the king win, probably so that dummy would be left without a diamond to lead after the ace was played. It was now a simple matter for South to make her contract by running four clubs and three spades.

Snapshot Guild

Here's an interesting idea for presenting pictures—a home picture show, with your own shots projected on a screen in large size, so that the whole family or a group of friends can enjoy them together.

Home movie makers, of course, have always used this method; but today it is also becoming popular for "still" shots, now that so many camera fans are using the full-colour films made for miniature cameras.

When you take miniature-camera shots on a roll of modern full-colour film, it is returned to you as a group of individual full-colour transparencies—ready for viewing directly, or for projection on a home screen.

The scene above shows how these shots are projected. The only difference is that this illustration is printed in black-and-white, while the actual screen pictures are in full colour—like the original subject.

Several compact, inexpensive projectors for these full-colour shots are now on the market. A colour transparency is simply inserted in the projector...the lamp is switched on ...and you get a screen picture up to several feet across! Naturally, this dramatic size adds to any shot, and helps bring out the fullest beauty of the colours.

During a recent New York World's Fair visit, I saw hundreds of these colour transparencies projected at the photography building—on a screen nearly four times as tall as a man! That display is truly spectacular. Of course, you can't show colour shots on that scale with a home projector. But you can take close-ups of your child, or friends, or the flowers in your garden—and present them "larger than life" on a screen in your own living-room, all in exquisite glowing colour! Which, you'll admit, is quite something.

As for taking colour shots—it's as easy as taking snapshots in black-and-white. You load the film in a suitable miniature camera, set the lens and shutter according to the exposure instructions, and shoot. And —as long as you follow instructions— you're sure of correctly-exposed colour transparencies.

Sooner or later, every real camera fan will be shooting full-colour film as well as black-and-white...and will have a projector for showing his colour transparencies. It's a really modern way to enjoy pictures...and it's growing in popularity every day. Once you try it, you'll see why.

Extension of U.S. Debt Limit

Mr. Morgenthau Comments On Federal Borrowing

Washington, Nov. 11.

The Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Henry, Morgenthau, said yesterday Congress must vote him the authority to exceed the $45,000,000,000 debt limit set by law if the votes for appropriations forces the Treasury to borrow above that mark during the next session.

"I am just the paymaster," he said. "I am not going to draw cheques for a penny above my legal authority."

He said he did not believe the President would ask Congress to raise the borrowing ceiling and gave assurence that the public debt would not exceed the present limit before Congress meets in January.—United Press.

Long Distance Marriage For German Soldiers

Berlin, Nov. 11.

The Minister of Justice, Dr. Franz Guertner, and Colonel-General Wilhelm Keitel, Member of the German High Command, issued an order yesterday permitting "long distance marriages" of German soldiers on active service.

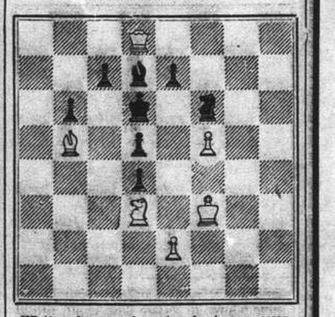
A soldier wishing to marry must give the battalion commander a written notice of his intention to marry, which the battalion commander forwards to the registrar of the bride's home town.

The bride then goes to the registry office and gives a similar notice of her desire to marry, upon which their marriage is declared concluded.—United Press.

CHESS

PROBLEM No. 186

By Brian Harley



White plays and mates in two moves.

In all the diagrams published White plays from the lower end of the board.

Answer to Problem No. 185

White: K on QB1; Q on QKt1; R's on Q7, KKt6; B's on QB8; KB6; Kt on KB2; P's on K7, KR3. Black: K on K3; Q on KKt6; R's on K1, KR1; B on QB8; Kt on KR5; P's on QKt5, QB3, KB5, KKt4, KR2. Three moves. Key Kt — K4. Two threats. 2. R — Q8ch and 2. R — Q6ch. The former is forced by 1. R(R1) — Kt1, the latter by 1. B — R3. Q — Q6, Kt or P × R. Other variations: 1. Q — R6ch, 2. B — Kt2ch; 1. Q — QB6ch, 2. B × Qch; 1. Q — K6ch, 2. R — Q2ch, 1. Q — K8ch, 2. R — Q1ch; 1. R × B, 2. P=Qch; 1. R × P, 2. R × Rch; 1. Kt — B4, 2. Q — Kt3ch; 1. K — B4, 2. Kt — Q6ch. Quintuple after 1. R — Q1 by 2. R × Rch, P=Q or Rch, P × R; (Kt)ch, or Kt — B5ch. Quadruple after R (K1) — B1 by 2. R — Q8ch, P=Q or Rch, or P × R (Kt) ch. Triple after 1. R (R1) — B1 by 2, the two threats or P × R (Kt) ch. Dual after 1. K — B2 by 2. Kt — Q6ch or R — KKt7ch. Other dual options are fully included in some of the above.

Another terrific problem by the great composer. The Kt is indicated as the Key-unit, but he allows the K another flight, and the Q another check. Among the ten variations may be noted the echoed model mates by Kt × P after 1. Q — K8ch and 1. Q — R6ch, etc., the echoed pure mates by B — K6 after 1. Kt or P × R and 1. R × P, etc., and the Q sacrifice after 1. Kt — B4. Short mates follow some moves by the Black Q, and P — Kt5.

The following submitted correct solutions to Prob No. 185. C.R.D.

Bournemouth Tournament

Queen's Pawn

White	Black
Euwe	Abrahams
1. P — Q4	P — QKt4 (a)
2. P — K4	B — Kt2
3. P — KB3	P — QR3
4. P — QB4	P × P
5. B × P	P — K3 (b)
6. Kt — B3	P — Q4
7. Q — Kt3!	Kt — QB3 (c)
8. P × P (d)	Kt × P
9. Q × B	R — Kt1 (e)
10. Q × RP	R — R1
11. B — QKt5ch	K — K2
12. P — Q6ch!	Resigns (f)

(a) Known as the Orang-Utang Opening, when played by White. Played by Black, it is nameless—let's call it Guerrilla Tactics.

(b) Euwe threatened B × BPch, K × B, Q — Kt3ch. Already Black has a bad game.

(c) P × B, 8. Q × B, Kt — Q2, when White can win a P by 9. Q — B6, or develop.

(d) Not Q × B, Kt — R4, catching the Q.

(e) For a draw by perpetual check to the Q.

(f) P × P, 13. B —, Kt5ch, Kt or P — B3, 14. Q — Kt7ch, and mates next move. Or K — B3, 13. P × P, Q × P, 14. Kt — Q5ch. This game really happened.

Queer Ending

White, F. A. Crowl: K on QR1; Q on KR1; R on KR2; B on K2; Kt on QB3; P's on QR2, QK12, Q5, K4, KB3. Black, I. Klass: K on KKt2; Q on K6; R on QB1; B on KKt3; Kt on KB3; P's on QR4, QK12, Q3, K4, KB5, KR2. White's position is dreary, but Mr. Klass deserves credit for his finish, which comes into the top grade.

White	Black
1.	Kt × QP!
2. Kt — Kt1 (a)	Kt — Kt5
3. B — Q1 (b)	R — B8
4. Q — B1 (c)	Q — Q5
5. Resigns (d)

(a) If Kt × Kt, R — B8 ch and mates next move; if P × Kt, R × Kt, followed by R — B8 ch, winning Q for R.

(b) Or P — R3. Kt — B7 ch. 4. K — R2, B — B2 ch, etc.

(c) To stop Q — Q6.

(d) His B is lost. and worse follows. —"Observer."

National Steeplechase Won By White Major

Don Enrico Outgallops Good Field to Win Club Handicap; Vim Second, Busted Straight Third

By "The Chaser"

WHITE Major scored a close victory over Mightylight and San Carlo to win the National Steeplechase—the principal event of yesterday's programme at the S.R.C. and the steeplechase classic of the season—after a magnificent race which was marred only by the running out of Hungjao at the hurdle the first time round. White Major came with a well-timed rush to take the lead after the last jump, galloping on to win from Mightylight whose last-minute challenge fell short by a neck. San Carlo, a little fancied starter, was beaten for second place by half a length.

The field was reduced to six who were sent off to a good start. San Carlo and Going Slow led over the first jump with Hungjao a length away. As the field approached the hurdle Hungjao ran out but luckily did not interfere with the others. The position was more or less unchanged until the Loong-fei gate was reached the second time. Mightylight then moved up to take the lead but dropped back after a quarter of a mile. Going Slow and San Carlo took the last jump together but the former tired while White Major and Mightylight came into the winning picture.

The Champion Handicap was another race of importance yesterday, the fifth day of the S.R.C. Autumn Race Meeting, and this event fell to Don Enrico who swept past the field with a brilliant burst of speed to take the lead from the last furlong, flashing past the post the winner by a length and a half. Vim was second. Busted Straight put up an unexpectedly good race and was only beaten by a neck for second place. Punters were sadly disappointed in Joylight who, given more than half the public support, finished nowhere after flattering for a moment at the top of the straight.

Without Night Express in the race the field was inclined to wait for one another but after a furlong Doc took command with Newcastle following closely. They led by five lengths at the half-mile post but at the last quarter the whole field were on their heels. Don Enrico jumped into the lead the moment he turned into the straight and galloped on to win.

Jack Wins Twice

Riding honours went to Charles Jack who rode two winners during the afternoon. Among the Chinese riders, A. C. Ching was the only jockey to find success, winning once and placing once.

Interim scored the only major upset of the day when he won the first race to pay his lucky backers the good dividend of $104.80, which, considering that it was the first race, is quite big. The best dividend, however, was returned in the forecast pool by the winning combination of Don Enrico and Vim, paying $574.60 to each of the twenty-three ticket holders.

The consistent Bober who has been there or thereabouts in every outing finally rewarded his patient owner and backers with a win and a narrow one too, just getting the right end of a short-head verdict. Claverton made the race more exciting by being right in the picture and was perhaps unfortunate to have only filled third place as he was going the strongest at the finish. He was third by a head.

Loch Maree First

The first race of the day was the "B" class of the Sub-griffins Handicap and this fell to Interim who beat Alberto and Fruitylight.

In the "A" section of the Handicap, Loch Maree got home by the skin of his teeth to beat Spring Tide who finished second, a head away. Rigoletto who was not well-fancied in the pari-mutuel, filled the remaining berth three lengths behind.

The fourth race was the Griffins Handicap ("C" Class) which was won by The Avocet who beat the favourite Dazara by a length and a half. Many lengths away was Peaceful General who was hard-pressed by Petruska but just managed to retain his third place.

The Griffins Handicap ("B" class) resulted in a close finish with Clunieburn, Red Ike, The Blackpoll and Magenta fighting for honours. Clunieburn eventually took premier honours by half a length while Red Ike beat The Blackpoll by a neck for second place and Magenta finished a length away, fourth.

Easy for Fairylight

The "A" division of the Handicap was won easily by Fairylight who came home in a common canter, winning by five lengths from Wintrylight and Mr. Bubbins. The latter did all the running and led by a length into the straight but was easily passed by the winner at the last furlong. Wintrylight came with a rush opposite the stands, passing Mr. Bubbins and filled second place two lengths ahead.

The last race of the day went to Roehampton who beat Sammy by half a length while Charming Swift filled the remaining berth a head away.

Steeplechase at the Race Course

Taking one of the fences in yesterday's National Steeplechase at the S.R.C. are H. Maitland on Going Slow, the favourite who did not place, and E. H. Browne on San Carlo, (right) a little-fancied pony who took third place, less than one length behind the winner, in a tight finish to reward his backers handsomely.

Winning Shot with 20 Seconds to Go

U.S.S. Augusta "B" Gain Slim Victory in Cates Basketball League

Sinking the winning goal in the last twenty seconds, the U.S.S. Augusta "B" overcame "B" Company and won the divisional championship in the Col. Cates Basketball League at the Navy Y.M.C.A. last night. The score was 21 to 20, with the ultimate losers leading all the way until the last shot was made by the Augusta.

Tierney, who aimed the winning shot, was the hero of the game. He played a good game as the pivot and sank three field goals. Spiess, the left-forward, made the same number of goals from the field, Churdon and Hurst, the two guards, each contributed a pair of goals to turn defeat into victory.

Honsowetz, the big and husky Marine officer, was the outstanding men on the "B" Company team. He played an instrumental part in virtually every department of the game. He led his team to gain an advantage of 8-7 at half-time and also in the remaining period until Tierney's important shot just before the finish.

The Augusta "B" squad will now meet "A" Company, winners of the other division, for the coveted Col. Cates trophy in a series of three games on next Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Dempsey to Referee Fight in Manila

Ex-Champion Accepts Offer For Garcia Bout

Manila, Nov. 10.

Jack Dempsey has agreed to come to Manila and referee the bout billed for the world middleweight championship between Ceferino Garcia, New York Boxing Commission champion, and Glen Lee here on December 16, Jess Cortes, Filipino promoter who has arranged the fight, announced today.

The former world heavyweight champion will come here by Clipper plane, Cortes announced.

Garcia' manager, George Parnassus, has completed the necessary arrangements with Dempsey at Los Angeles, Cortes said.

To Receive $7,500

The Filipino promoter further said that Dempsey would receive U.S. $7,500 and expenses for refereeing the bout.

This announcement followed a recent radiogram from Dempsey to Cortes that he would be unable to come to Manila and referee the Garcia-Lee clash.

The bout between Garcia and Lee, although billed by Cortes as for the world championship, has not received any recognition as such from either the New York Boxing Commission or the National Boxing Association, which control boxing between them in the United States.

Garcia is recognized as world champion by the N.Y.B.C. but not by the N.B.A., which recognizes Al Hostak of Seattle as the world titleholder.—United Press.

Last Year's Winners Overwhelmed

In Uno Trounce Greens in Women's Hockey Match

Scoring two goals in the latter part of the second half, the Shanghai American School "A" team defeated the Associacao das Senhoras Portuguesas "A" by four goals to two in one of the two matches which were played yesterday in the dual competition between the S.A.S. and the Shanghai Ladies Hockey Association.

The Portuguese drew first blood through Mrs. P. Collaco, but before the intermission Miss Richardson netted the equaliser. Miss Richardson then put the School 2-1 ahead shortly after the rest period. Miss Mary Collaco countered to bring the score to a tie for the second and last time.

Making persistent efforts to score in the concluding stages, Miss Richardson and Miss Loe each tallied to give the home team a decisive victory.

In the other encounter the "B" team of the School were beaten by Erin Villa "B" by a score of two to nothing.

Greens Upset

In the two friendly games at Kiaochow Park both the Shanghai Ladies and the In Uno elevens were victorious. The Shanghai Ladies took the measure of the Amazons by three goals to one. Miss Joan Burton scored the first one for the ultimate winners and then saw Mrs. Money tie the score before the interval. Upon the resumption Mrs. K. Holt netted the leading goal for the Shanghai Ladies, who finally breezed through to score a comfortable victory.

Miss Ohrnberger led the In Uno girls to a fine 6-0 win over the Greens who were champions in the last League. Miss Ohrnberger accounted for no less than four of the six goals. The Greens played hard but to no avail. The winners were without the services to Miss Jean Piccozi while the Greens missed Miss Decima Eardley.

Tempers Flare Up as Tung Hwa Beat A.S.F. on Penalty

Fist Fight on Field; Referee Escorted Off After Game; Disputed Goal Makes Final Score 3-2

THE only football game in the First Division of the S.F.A. League which was played at the Canidrome between Tung Hwa and Association Sportive Francaise yesterday nearly ended in a riot. The referee, Mr. Jay Chen, had to be escorted off the premises after the conclusion of the encounter as a number of the spectators disapproved of the way the arbiter awarded a second penalty to Tung Hwa which led to the Chinese footballers winning the game by the odd goal in five.

The winning 12-yard kick came after thirty minutes of play in the second half. It took place after Boissezon had made a pretty save from a previous penalty charged to Mihaeloff for handling. The French keeper pushed the leather with a full length dive at the expense of a corner. Chia took the flag-kick and he sent the ball about fifteen yards in front of the goal. No less than three or four players jumped for the ball. Mihaeloff was one of them. He fell while landing and the referee tooted a second successive foul on him. Tung Hwa converted and broke a 2-all tie.

The whole French team felt badly about the loss. Less than ten minutes later Roboostoff was sent off, the blonde centre having already received warning from Mr. Chen. About three minutes before the end of the game Chia and Sbath fell in a huddle, and then suddenly rose and exchanged blows. The brawl lasted for about half a minute before the two could be separated by some of the players on both sides. Play continued, with Chia and Sbath still in it.

The A.S.F. has lost two important players. G. Collet, the star fullback, has joined the French Army Y. Segalen was indisposed and failed to turn out. Mihaeloff and Anyie filled the vacancies, but the latter showed up late and the French side had to play with only ten men at the outset. Tung Hwa missed the services of S. H. Van, the diminutive outside-left who was sick.

Following were the teams:—

Tung Hwa:—P. K. Zing, H. K. Chen, Y. Z. Chong, Z. K. Sze, S. M. Tsai, H. V. Woo, T. Van, P. H. Woo, L. K. Tai, Z. H. Wong, Y. L. Chia.

A.S.F.:—Boissezon, Jesu, Pecquery, Savine, Ward, Mihaeloff, Levitsky, Sbath, Roboostoff, Anyie, Dimetriu.

Tung Hwa Attack First

Kicking off against the western goal, Tung Hwa took full advantage of the Frenchmen's incomplete line-up and commenced to attack. Ward and Jesu were the pillars of strength in the French team's rear line and successfully kept the raiders from doing any damage. From a break-away Roboostoff tested Zing with a feeble grounder. Chia was the next to take a shot which went over the bar.

Gradually the A.S.F. settled down. Sbath, Dimetriu and Roboostoff each took shots. From a free kick a few yards out of the back area Ward missed the net by a scant inch or two, the ball just skimming over.

In the 15th minute Roboostoff drew first blood with a grand shot taken after a pivot from 25 yards out following a throw-in by Savine. The ball went body-high and took the keeper completely by surprise.

However, the Chinese were not to be outdone and came back to tie the score in less than a minute. From the resultant kick-off the ball was worked into the French back area for Wong to beat Boissezon with a teasing grounder at point-blank.

Tung Hwa kept up the pace. Tai would have scored two goals had it not been for the fine efforts of Jesu and Ward, who came to the rescue in the nick of time on both occasions.

Roboostoff Breaks Away

In the 25th minute Roboostoff broke loose. Sbath put him through and the French centre made no mistake to crash in a grounder and regain leadership. Van and Wong each wasted a good opportunity, the former driving wildly when well placed and the latter fired straight to Boissezon.

From a counter-attack Roboostoff ran towards the left and after the ball. Chen, the left fullback, moved over to watch the raider. Dimetriu cut towards the centre, but shot poorly at an open goal after receiving a perfect pass from Roboostoff. Zing tipped the weak shot over for an abortive corner.

Mihaeloff was pulled up for fouling outside of the back area. Tsai sent a scorching drive and saw Boissezon drop the ball after a catch. However, the defenders managed to clear following a short melee. A few minutes before half-time Roboostoff ran himself loose again. He dribbled towards the left and kicked feebly with only the goalie to beat.

Play became scrappy after the intermission. Both goals were visited, but there was no danger to either side. Boissezon stopped Chia's drive, but he misjudged a long shot from Van in the 13th minute and permitted the score to be tied for the second time.

Later on, the French keeper was seen making one save after another, clearly redeeming himself.

Friction on Field

Roboostoff wasted a golden opportunity to break the deadlock when he drove straight to Zing after he had evaded the defenders by some clever dribbling.

Then came the incident which led to an unpleasant finish. Mihaeloff handled the ball within the back area. Boissezon stopped Tsai's shot for a corner. Chia put over and Mihaeloff was again charged with an infringement. This time Tsai converted.

Roboostoff was given "marching orders." Ward moved forward and filled the gap. Sbath and Chia struck at each other. Upon resumption of play the French team nearly succeeded in levelling the score. Ward twice drove wild from vantage points. When the final whistle peeped the A.S.F. were still in the thick of the fight in front of Tung Hwa's goal.

Fourth Marine Fighters Win Walla Walla Cup Again

Decisive 5-2 Victory Pounded Out Over U.S. Asiatic Fleet; "Killer" Kubiak Knocks Out Ausborn

FULL of savage action, thrills galore, good boxing, plenty of smashing ox-felling blows and a liberal sprinkling of knock-downs, the 1939 Navy Relief Smoker held at the Auditorium yesterday evening, proved to be the finest presentation seen in Shanghai for several months. The Fourth U.S. Marines, by gaining five of the seven bouts, sunk their naval opponents and thus retained possession for another year of the Walla Walla Cup, the battered old trophy that stands as the emblem of fistic superiority between the Marines and American Asiatic Fleet in the Orient.

The final result was definitely a surprise, for while many predicted that the leathernecks would gain the day, few thought that the margin would be so convincing. But there it was and if the sailors may be adjudged unlucky in losing the decision in the second bout of the evening when Schrudder was given the nod against Woolen, this result would in no way have affected the destination of the trophy.

In the main event, Leo "Killer" Kubiak, the Marine ace, caused nothing short of a sensation when he smashed out some wicked blows to knock out Jackie "Butch" Ausborn, pride of the U.S.S. Augusta, within twelve seconds of the start of the second round. Only the bell saved the sailor in the initial frame, the tar being stretched out on his back with a glazed look in his eyes, dead to the world when the round ended. The crowd was dumbfounded and as soon as the next canto began, Kubiak walked calmly across to his opponent and unleashed a straight right that stretched the gob flat on his back abruptly to end the fight and the programme.

Livingston Beats Pusta

The semi-final bout saw another Marine victory when Tony Livingston, middleweight champion of China, took the measure of John Pusta, light-heavyweight champion of the American Asiatic Fleet, after six hard rounds, in which neither displayed the form that won their respective titles.

In the five four-round preliminaries, Downing of the Navy, scored a clean cut T.K.O. in the first round over a very inexperienced and slow De Loof, "Bruiser" Poncavage, another Marine, stopped a willing Evans in the second round via the T.K.O. route, Kelly (Navy) made rings round Pesanchik to gain an extremely obvious points decision after winning each round easily, Schrudder secured the verdict over Woolen in a fight that many thought was the sailor's, while in the opener, Rearick, still another leatherneck, held too many big guns for "Fireman" Watt and had no difficulty in securing the judges' decision.

Each and every contest was fought with much keenness and a great deal of enthusiasm and the huge crowd that attended and filled every seat in the Auditorium went away fully satisfied with an excellent evening. The bands of the Marines and Navy also considerably enlivened proceedings, their renderings of popular present day and bygone "hits" being warmly received. The entire programme went off without the slightest hitch and the sponsors are to be congratulated for the fine way in which everything was conducted.

Wrestling Matches

Two wrestling matches started the proceedings, but in both instances the sailors proved far superior to their Marine rivals. In the first bout, Melberg scored a fall over Duncan in one minute and 22 seconds while in the second, Havens, U.S. Navy lightheavyweight champion, after almost throwing Ludridge out of the ring in the first half-minute, pinned the Marine to the mat in just 56 seconds.

The six-round main-event saw Ausborn unleashing a furious attack with both hands right from the bell, but he received more than he bargained for from a very cool and unruffled Marine. Action then slowed down somewhat until the round was drawing to a close when the sailor again tried to open up with his heavy artillery only to walk straight into a left hook and the most perfect of straight rights. He went down as if poleaxed and it was obvious he would not get up before ten seconds. The bell, however, saved him and though his seconds worked hard on him during the minute's respite, it was patent that only a miracle would save the gob from complete destruction. Kubiak walked serenely out of his corner and with Ausborn still swaying on his feet a bare two feet from his own corner, the Marine measured off another straight right that took the sailor smack on the chin. Ausborn went down with a terrible bang and the fight was over.

Kubiak Cool

Kubiak has never, under any circumstances, appeared to better advantage, the ease with which he handled his rushing, punching foe in the initial seconds of the first round, stamping him as a really fine boxer. The manner, too, in which he unleashed his left and right that caused the damage when the tar went down in the first round were executed with split-second precision. On last night's performance, Kubiak is head and shoulders above any one else at his weight in China.

The semi-final, which brought together Livingston and Pusta, was by no means an easy victory for the Marine, his timing, which in workouts in the gymnasium always appears to be splendid, being badly at fault, while the snap he displayed in previous contests was definitely missing. Indeed, had the sailor relied more on his left hand, which caused the leatherneck lots of trouble throughout the bout, the decision might have been reversed. The Marine obviously has a deadly right hand, but not once could he find a vulnerable spot and at the finish of the six rounds the sailor certainly looked in better physical condition than his rival.

Relentless Attack

Livingston took the first round, attacking relentlessly. He was faster than the gob and landed with a number of right and left hooks, behind which there appeared to be little steam. Many of his blows, however, landed on the sailor's shoulders, arms and gloves. The second round went to Pusta by a narrow margin, the navy boy using his left hand to drive the Marine round the ring in the early stages. The leatherneck came back later in this round with some healthy blows to close the gap. After the gob had made the Marine miss badly in the first half of the third round, Livingston connected with a number of solid right hooks that gave him the round. The fourth went to the sailor by a fair margin, the Marine missing time and time again by as much as two feet with right and left hooks. Pusta also used his straight left to good advantage in pulling up dead Livingston's potential attacks. The fifth and six—the rounds that were to count—went to the China champion, a stream of heavy blows putting the sailor out of his stride and allowing the Marine to gain a narrow but well-deserved points victory.

In a four-round heavyweight affair, Downing of the Navy was far too good for De Loof, sending him down for a count of seven the first time he hit him. After the Marine had hit the canvas no less than four times from terrific right handers, the referee rightly stopped the bout as the bell went, De Loof then being flat on his back and in a bad way.

Despairing Effort

The other heavyweight contest saw Poncavage score another victory for the Marines over Evans. After the leatherneck had had the better of the first round in which snarling, punching action was the keynote, Evans turned loose a barrage of rights and lefts that had the "Bruiser" in a bad way in the second and it looked all Nanking Road to a China orange that the sailor would win easily. Poncavage, however, let loose a last despairing effort and caught the sailor a tartar with a wicked right and the boot was on the other foot. Evans seemed paralysed and could offer not the slightest defence as the Marine rained punch after punch on his face and body. After he had taken such punishment for some fifteen seconds swaying against the ropes, the referee lifted Poncavage's hand in victory to give him a T.K.O.

Chinese Try to Cut Japanese Lines

Troops Sent to Districts Behind Fronts; Hangchow Area Being Cleaned Up

Nanking, Nov. 11.

Gen. Chiang Kai-shek has stationed troops in Kiangsu, Anhwei, Chekiang and Shantung in an attempt to interfere with the peace movement of Mr. Wang Ching-wei and to disrupt supply routes of the Japanese forces, according to reliable information reaching here.

Most of the troops were reported to be concentrated in the lower Yangtze valley. About six divisions with a Szechuen army as the main force were stationed along the southern section of the Yangtze as far as Nanling in south-eastern Anhwei province.

These troops were under the command of Gen. Tang Shih-tsun, leader of the 23rd Group Army which operated under Gen. Ku Chu-tung, chief of the third war zone. Five other divisions under Gen. Chang Wen-ching, commander of the 25th Army, were taking positions in a sector extending from Ningkuo to Liyang in southern Kiangsu.

In a special war zone covering Shantung and Kiangsu a militia corps and part of a "patriotic salvation army" were stationed under the command of Gen. Li Shou-hsin, commander of the 89th Army, who takes orders from Gen. Yu Hsuehchung. Chinese attempts to cut supply routes were frustrated in sectors south and north of the Yangtze valley and a number of Chinese troops were surrendering, according to field dispatches.—Domei.

Mopping-up Near Hangchow

Hangchow, Nov. 11.

Three more towns were occupied by Japanese forces yesterday in mopping-up operations in a triangular region near Hangchow.

Following the capture yesterday morning of Shihwanchen, base of the 62nd Division, Japanese forces tightened encircling lines around stragglers in the area and were advancing rapidly in the afternoon.

One Japanese column which drove from Nanhsunchen, south of Lake Tai, reached a line running through Wuhochin by 2 o'clock, and another detachment mopped up troop remnants in the vicinity of Hoshan.

Still other units captured Jantoupin, about 28 kilometres south-west of Shihwanchen, at 2 o'clock. At about the same time co-operating forces which advanced from the Kashing sector took possession of Lutow. Columns which set out from Hangchow drove southward through Lienshihchen.

In the attack on Lutow army aircraft aided infantry by launching an intense bombardment on Chinese positions. The bombers swooped down on retreating columns and with blasts of machine-gun fire and bombs prevented them from reforming their lines.—Domei.

An attempt on the life of King Farouk of Egypt was made today by a former employee of the Finance Ministry just as the sovereign was driving away from the Mosque after prayers. U.S. Seamen to Be Given Help

President Roosevelt Discusses Effects of New Neutrality Act

Washington, Nov. 11.

President Roosevelt at his press conference yesterday strongly intimated he would delay the transfer of eight ships of the United States Line to the Panama Registry until the Government could complete arrangements for a programme designed to cushion the adverse effects of the Neutrality Act on shipowners and workers. This would include the employment of an unrevealed number of jobless sailors in the current talk of importing $10,000,000 worth of strategic materials into the United States.

The President declined the responsibility of the Administration toward the long-reported project of transferring American ships withdrawn from the North Atlantic into South American and Pacific routes. He said that such a project was visionary and easy to discuss, but pointed out that there are insufficient cargoes and passengers available for new lines on these routes.

Shipment of Malayan Rubber

Mr. Roosevelt disclosed that some United States freighters may be sent to Malaya to carry rubber which Great Britain has agreed to exchange for cotton from the United States. While it might be desirable to transfer ships to South American and Pacific routes such as Australia and the Philippines, he said, it would be necessary for such voyages to be profitable.

The Moore-McCormick Line rushed arrangements for the 8,500-ton freighter Mormac Tide to sail for Bergen today with the usual peace time cargo aboard, the first American ship to sail since the Neutrality Act was promulgated. The freighter Mormac Port will sail November 21, its owners announced.—United Press.

San Francisco Strike

San Francisco, Nov. 11.

The Ship Clerks' Association called a strike for 6 p.m. yesterday which threatened to tie up the city's waterfront commerce. The strike was called against the Dock Checkers Employers' Association after they had rejected the clerks' demands for a 1940 contract.—United Press.

Beggar Sentenced for Attempted Murder

Sequel to Dispute with Restaurant Coolie

Charged with attempted murder in which he stabbed a Chinese restaurant food delivery boy with a knife, Zee Eu-yung, a beggar specializing in robbing such delivery coolies of left-over dishes by waylaying them in streets, was sentenced to five years' imprisonment yesterday by the First Special District Court.

The sentencing of the beggar will give a lesson to numerous others who are often seen at about tiffin and dinner time in many streets trying to obtain left-over rice and delicacies from delivery coolies. Sometimes disputes among these mendicants themselves are so serious that they develop into fights and on many occasions the coolies get the worst of it.

Zee met a delivery coolie on October 10 near Love Lane off Bubbling Well Road. The usual dispute took place in which the coolie refused to surrender the left-over dishes to the beggar. Bent on teaching the coolie a lesson, Zee bought a knife the next day with his life-savings, waylaid him at the usual hour and stabbed the coolie through the chest. The coolie recovered only recently.

Out of Order

THERE are plenty of people who hardly know that there is a war. It is always so. The "British Weekly" relaties a story of two women riding together in a Glasgow tram during the Balkan War. The one woman said to the other "This is a very terrible war," and the other answered, "Is there a war, who are fighting," To which the first good lady replied "I am no' sure but I think it's the Russians and the Japanese." To which lady number two responded "Well, they're getting a fine day for it!"

British Industry Mobilized To Produce Munitions

Factories Adapted To War-Time Conditions; 1,000,000 Shells a Year at one Firm

A STRIKING illustration of the production of armaments by industrial firms not normally engaged in such work was provided during a visit to a large factory in the Midlands recently where 3.7 anti-aircraft shells are being manufactured. One of the largest plants engaged in the production of anti-aircraft shells, it can comfortably produce 1,000,000 shells a year and is only one of many already in operation or being constructed for munitions work in Britain and in various parts of the Empire. It shows the successful adaptation of a commercial process to shell manufacture and is entirely designed for mass production, writes a special correspondent of "The Times."

In normal times armaments in Britain are made at Royal Ordnance factories and at a number of specialized armaments plants. Naturally the exigencies of war necessitate the mobilization of wider industrial resources in producing munitions. This has been proceeding for some time, and is continuing under the Ministry of Supply. It was explained that during years of preparatory work by the War Office the technical questions of how to make armaments more efficiently and more quickly were reviewed in every detail, and industrial plants were inspected to find out which could suitably be turned over to munitions work. All this work of preparation and development of new methods was done in co-operation with industry, and individual manufacturers have contributed ideas and processes which have been incorporated in the standard production. It was stated that this was very different from Germany, where, it was understood, the rearmament plans were dictated from the top.

Results of Planning

As a result of this planning new factories have been erected, specialized machinery has been produced, and existing buildings and machinery have been adapted. The works visited were once devoted to manufacturing steel products, such as tubes, and new machinery has been installed to forge and machine empty shells.

An official of the Ministry of Supply, who accompanied the visiting party, said improvements in forging and machining now make it possible in such a works to produce shells at a rate up to six times faster than the rate at which they were made during the most active periods in the Great War. The number of operatives employed has been considerably reduced, and examples were given showing that the same number of shells can be produced under modern methods by 40 or 50 employees as required 70 or 80 in smaller firms using old-fashioned methods. In addition to being quicker and using less labour, the work is more accurate.

Many industrial works are now concerned in the production of munitions; they include textile machinery manufacturers, locomotive builders, manufacturers of mining machinery and motor parts, and even a small seaside garage has been adapted to produce light anti-aircraft shells. The factory visited is, of course, secret. Much amusement was created when the visitors lost their way to it and found difficulty in obtaining directions. It seemed that this was indeed a case of being—according to the much-worn phrase—"somewhere in England." On arrival at the factory it was at once apparent that there, as in other parts, work was proceeding with that concentrated efficiency which is no secret for the people of this country.

Determined Workers

A tribute should be paid to the workers and the management for their determination to get on with the job. Although there were many watching they did not seem to pause to relax for a moment and, in fact, the visitors had to tread carefully as they toured the works. Each operative had his gas mask slung over his shoulder in a cylindrical container. In the long, darkened factory lit by blue lights the whole process of making empty shells was seen in all its operations of forging and machining. To the layman the great array of intricate machinery and the loud noise were somewhat bewildering.

At one end of the building billets of steel, weighing about 38lb., were being put into the furnace and then taken out by tongs and put into the piercing press. Then they passed through various machines, and finally were ready to be sent to the filling factory to be filled with explosives and fuses. Many times in their journey through the factory they were gauged for correct dimensions as well as weighed.

It was stated that the operatives can be trained to do their work in a week or two, and no special craftsmanship is necessary. In the shot-blasting room a group of deaf mutes, unaware of the noise, work at one of the processes connected with cleaning and finishing the inside of the shell. An official said more men were required for this work. They were recruited from a deaf and dumb school in the district, and were very glad of the chance of doing something to help in the war effort.

All these men, in this factory and in others like it, are playing their part in the service of the country. It is a vital part, and one felt after seeing them that they were putting every ounce of effort and determination into their work.

Tension Persists in Pakhoi Area

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT

Hongkong, Nov. 4.

Tension in the Pakhoi area persists owing to the arrival of another seaplane carrier believed to be the Kamoi in addition to the Notoro which is said to be somewhere near Waichow Island in the Gulf of Tonkin, according to vernacular reports reaching here. The number of Japanese warships has been increased from twelve to seventeen. While Chinese military authorities consider that the enemy warships are intended further to harass that port and the adjacent coast, there is every preparation against landing of Japanese forces. The result was that foreign ships could not load or unload in Pakhoi as in the case of the Taksang and Soochow.

People in Pakhoi have begun evacuating to the interior. Extra police patrol the streets at night in search of spies and traitors, and the port generally presents desolation. The primary Japanese objective is to prevent any exports or imports passing Pakhoi, which is the only port in Kuangtung remaining in the hands of the Chinese.

Kwangsi troops are reported to have arrived in large numbers at a point northwest of Yamchow and Limchow on the Kuangtung-Kwangsi border as a precaution against Japanese attacks. The repeated air attacks on Lungchow, Chennankwan, Nanning and Kweilin in Kwangsi herald something more than raids. Lungchow and Chennankwan were bombed most severely and frequently, because they are the main communication centres with Indo-China.

Peiping's Progress Assessed by Fire

Volunteer Companies Still Active on Roads; Police Gather with Mausers

SPECIAL TO THE "N.C.D.N."

Peiping, Nov. 6.

For the first time for many years I witnessed a big fire here the other evening, which enabled one to assess the progress that Peiping has made in its fire-fighting methods, from the days of the old volunteer fire-fighting companies with their gongs, buckets, and squirts. It looks as if these methods are still in a state of evolution, the new ones being by no means perfect, while the last vestiges of the former primitive methods have not been entirely sloughed off.

I was strolling along Curio Street, outside the Chienmen in the Chinese City. It was about six o'clock, but the curio shops were closed. Unlike most other shops in Peiping which do the greater part of their business in the evening hours, the curio-dealers close up, as soon as it gets dark. Whether this is because their customers do not go curio-hunting by artificial light, or whether merely from excessive timidity, I do not know. Anyhow, the street was dark and deserted, and there were scarcely any signs of life. Suddenly from the main street ahead, the Chienmen High Street, came the shrill blasts of the siren of a fire-engine. As if by magic all the shop doors were flung open and a throng of hard-working apprentices came rushing forth shouting cheerfully to each other, as they ran. Imagining that the fire would be in some far-way part of the town, I did not hasten my steps.

But when I reached the entrance of the side street, I was surprised to see, only 100 yards down the main street on the opposite side, a tremendous blaze. Some sheds on the roof of a two-storeyed building were blazing fiercely; they were obviously of wood and burning like tinder; but, even so, that fire must have been going some considerable time to have got such a hold. Luckily, there was not a breath of wind, and the flames shot straight upwards into the sky, while the sparks fell languidly back into the blaze, instead of being wafted on to the neighbouring roofs.

When I came out on to the main street, I was surprised to note how dark the street had become, except for the flames of the fire. For a moment I imagined that the electric lights had been cut off. That was not the case; for the rare street lights over the roadway were still giving forth their usual feeble glimmer. (The street lighting in Peiping is probably the worst of any city in the world.) What had actually happened was, that all the shops up and down the street were hastily putting up their shutters, while the hawkers, whose booths line both sides of the street at that hour of the evening, were busy packing up their goods and closing up their stalls. From long experience, the Chinese shopkeeper has become a confirmed pessimist and does not take any unnecessary risks.

Mausers Flourished

A large crowd had collected by now, but it was strangely silent and perfectly well-behaved, and, of its own accord, kept a respectful distance away from the fire, making no attempt whatever to push forward. The people who were excited and noisy were the firemen and the police. The latter made wild and quite senseless rushes at the perfectly orderly crowd, flourishing their Mauser pistols and shouting "Shoot! Shoot!," as if they were dealing with a dangerous riot. The crowd, never being quite sure of the vagaries of their "guardians of the peace," at once took fright, and there was a stampede in which several people were knocked down. The police, like those sporting dogs which chase everything that starts running, only chased those who took flight, while those who kept their heads and made no attempt to run away were left severely alone.

Usual Helmets

Meanwhile the fire-brigade was busy fighting the fire. To the accompaniment of shrill bugle calls the firehoses were unrolled and connected up, which gave it all a very military air. Whether these bugle calls were merely a survival from the gongs of the old Chinese fire-fighting companies, or whether they were perhaps really necessary, on account of the tremendous noise the firemen themselves were making, I cannot say. It was, however, very noticeable, as is usual on such occasions, that one or two men did all the work, while the others did all the shouting.

The firemen were wearing the usual cuirassier helmet, which seems to be an obligatory part of fire-fighting equipment all the world over, though why this particular form of head-gear should be the most suitable for fires, I never could make out.

They were also wearing heavy tarpaulin great-coats, although the evening was warm and dry. Thin streams of water spouted forth in all directions. The ladders that they were using seemed to be of wood, which perhaps did not matter very much on this particular occasion, as the flames continued to leap vertically into the sky. The hoses having been put together, some of the firemen ascended to a neighbouring roof and played them on the fire. Although it was scarcely two storeys up, the pressure was so feeble that the water fell in a gentle languid stream into the fire below.

Valuable Assistance

However, further valuable assistance was at hand, if required. The public, perhaps not entirely trusting to the new methods, still keep up their old fire-fighting companies. Some gentlemen in long robes with coloured flags, on which were embroidered the names of their volunteer companies, arrived in haste on the scene. They were followed by a couple of ancient coolies, who came staggering along with a huge wooden bucket full of water slung to a carrying-pole. And as a concession to more modern ideas, some young boys wearing red sashes came pushing along a couple of trolleys containing six kerosene tins of water. What use was made of this auxiliary water supply I do not know, as I could not see, whether the old-fashioned squirts were used or not.

IMPARTIAL NOT NEUTRAL

U.S. ARMS EMBARGO

BY SMITHSONIAN

(Written before the Act was passed)

The Congressional debate on neutrality, widely heralded by the advance publicity as the most important exhibition of democratic methods since the Versailles Treaty debate has proved to use Broadway slang a complete flop. The first few performances drew full houses, but soon the attendance began to fall off and the galleries were only half-filled. Even members of the cast drifted away into the wings and were observed by scandalized newspapermen to be gathered round the radios listening, no, not to news broadcasts from Europe, but to the baseball game. An atmosphere of semi-torpor is one in which opinions are changed or votes secured. The speakers, however, even if they were not speaking to sway their colleagues could at least tell themselves that they were being read by the folks back home. Even this comforting thought, however, could not be entertained for long as the headlines over the news of the Debate grew narrow and the space devoted to it less.

The debate smouldered and smoked dull and heavy. The subject had been for so long before the public that any argument worth stating had already been stated time and time again. The Senators themselves had contributed to the surfeit by speaking over the radio long before the actual debate in Washington began whenever opportunity and free time presented itself.

* * *

Perhaps another reason for the lack of fire in the debate was that the issue had been so narrowed down that there was really very little to grow fiery about. The beliefs held in common by far outweighed the differences. All Senators, on whatever side they spoke, were agreed that the United States should not enter the war but should remain strictly neutral, yet nearly all, though many would not confess the fact, hoped the Allied powers would win and Hitlerism be defeated. It would have been so easy to take the position that since these views were held in common why not agree to pass a neutrality act which would benefit the Allied powers rather than one which would benefit Germany since it was evident that whatever sort of an act was adopted would favour one side or another. But instead there were long discussions of international law, of the impossibility of changing the rules in the midst of the game, of the need to keep war at a distance, as though the debate were on a war declaration instead of a neutrality act.

The central point of the debate was the arms embargo repeal. There was general agreement that the United States should no longer insist upon freedom of the seas, since any attempt to follow out that policy might lead Americans into trouble, which would lead to public indignation, which would lead to entering the war. The arms embargo repeal issue, however, was seized upon by the isolationists as a symbol of a tendency they detected in the Administration to take too much interest in matters which went on outside the United States and therefore should not concern Americans. They agreed that if freedom of the seas was abandoned and American vessels withdrawn from the trade routes to belligerent countries there could be little danger of America's emotions being aroused by ship-sinkings. But they feared that repeal of the embargo might be regarded by Germany as a hostile act, which she would resent and might resent so forcefully that American anger would be roused against her and the country find itself dragged in the war by a back door.

* * *

The speech of Senator Borah is as good an example as any of the isolationist anti-arms embargo position. The Senator began with a little historical survey in the classic isolationist style. Europe was a continent which fought wars as a matter of course and had done since the dawn of history. America should have nothing to do with these perpetual border disputes. America's part in writing the Versailles Treaty was ignored and its terms were treated as an expression of Europe's incorrigible stupidity. "Do what we might it seemed clear to the people of this country that it was not within our power to right the wrongs of that continent, to wipe out its racial bitterness, and religious persecutions, to adjust with satisfaction its boundary lines or to bring happiness and contentment to its masses." America's task was therefore "to maintain liberty, freedom and free institutions upon the western hemisphere" meanwhile doing what could be done to keep Europe at peace by refusing to supply arms to either side.

This view of European history, which sidesteps the possibility that American refusal to participate in efforts at post-war adjustment through the League might have had something to do with Europe's present condition, ignores a long series of efforts from Locarno to Lausanne to the World Economic Conference to solve post-war difficulties, and assumes an equal responsibility of all powers for the present war, always appeals to the gallery, particularly when accompanied by praises of the United States for being blest with all the qualities in which Europe is deficient.

* * *

As for this selling of arms, "Wherein was peace to be advanced by doing so? We might advance the cause of one side or the other, but wherein was peace advanced." This rigid impartial view was not always maintained by Senator Borah. He had vigorously criticized the British government for making the Munich Peace Agreement. He would undoubtedly have been equally critical of any Danzig agreement on similar lines. But he adopted the view that once a quarrel in which right and wrong were clearly recognizable became, through the action of the side already recognized as being in the wrong, a war; then automatically it must be assumed that both sides were equally wrong. If of course the side in the right to avoid war, retreats before the wrong and does not resist it, then it is blamed. If it does resist it, then it puts itself in the wrong.

This is the first inconsistency in the classic isolationist attitude. The next is concerned with the actual sale of arms. It is held immoral to sell these because they are death dealing instruments and the American public wants nothing to do with blood money. But there is no suggestion made that the sale of arms should be banned in time of peace, only when war has broken out. Arms are obviously meant to kill whether they are sold before or after war. No one pretends that a machinegun is brought for sowing wheat; it is bought for sowing death. The ban in time of war means that the peaceful nations which have not been piling up armaments are put at a disadvantage. In practice the isolationist attitude, though ostensibly based on humanitarian grounds, means that it is permissable to sell arms for attack but not for defence.

* * *

"The war hounds of Europe are demanding repeal of the arms ambargo," Senator Borah cried. In actual fact the demand for repeal was addressed to Congress long before the war hounds were unleashed. The Senator, however, declared that there would be no war and that therefore it was unnecessary to repeal the arms embargo or make other changes in the neutrality Act immediately. The matter could be left till later.

The Senator also argued that the people who would profit from repeal were the armament firms. They would profiteer. But when Senator Lee of Oklahoma asked if the Senator supported his anti-profiteering bill Senator Borah grew very angry. "If it is first proposed to put us into that dirty trade (armaments), I do not propose to vote for a law which in lieu thereof takes away the liberty and the freedom and the rights of the United States." The Senator was referring to the drastic restrictions on both profit making and management which most anti-profiteering bills contain.

* * *

The Senator was fully convinced that repeal of the embargo would be held by both England and Germany as a sign that America would enter the war. When England heard that the President had asked for arms repeal Senator Borah avowed, "the announcement by the press and the cry of the public was that the United States is coming in, that our former ally is to join us again."

The Senator then advanced an argument which shows the extent to which the isolationists are prepeared to surrender American rights in their efforts to remain at peace. The cash and carry proposition, he argued, was no safeguard. It was true the arms would cease to be American before they left the docks and would be transported in non-American ships. But "is it to be supposed that the enemy would wait until the title had changed and take vengeance upon the purchaser rather than upon the manufacturer? Why should the enemy have less bitterness, less vindictiveness, less determination to destroy, towards those who make munitions than to those who buy them when the enemy knows that they are all bound for the same destination."

* * *

A very pertinent comment on this contention of Senator Borah was made by Mr. Walter Lippmann. "In saying that Nazi Germany," he writes, "will wage war on American soil if Congress presumes to legislate in a certain way, it will be felt by many that the Senator is carrying pretty far indeed his doctrine that American policy must be shaped by a desire to displease a foreign power. One would have supposed that an isolationist would at least insist that what goes on inside the United States is the affair of the American people, and that the very notion of surrendering American rights inside the United States for fear that foreign agents will dynamite our factories should be rejected as an intolerable surrender of American sovereignty....If the American nation has reached a point where it is unable to preserve law and order inside the United States, if in addition to abandoning all its historic rights at sea it must also abandon its sovereign independence at home, then we have reached a condition of feebleness that no one would have thought possible."

Wisdom from the Weeklies

Fascist Badges A correspondent sent the "New Statesman and Nation" a curious item of news from a country district. A certain great man, an army officer and well-known diehard Conservative, recently decided to close the ancestral mansion and to live in one of the smaller lodges on his estate. Just prior to the outbreak of war, cupboards, drawers and limber rooms were given a clear out and much "rubbish" thrown away or burned. The work would appear to have been carried out with more zeal than care, since among the articles indiscriminately dumped for public inspection were some hundreds of British United Fascist badges, still wrapped carefully in tissue paper inside small cardboard boxes. The rural retreat of this personage edges one of the most strongly Socialist areas in the country, and his possession of so many Fascist emblems, in new condition, is not likely to pass unnoticed in the district.

War Reactions In Germany Whereas in this country a large number of people seem to think that the war has not really begun, in Germany large numbers think it is over, intimates "Time and Tide." Whereas German bombs have rained on Polish cities, only papers have rained in German cities. Germany as a whole has not begun to feel the war, except in the form of rationing and a number of restrictions that may be irksome but are bearable. Germans are beginning to believe—quite mistakenly, of course—that Hitler and Ribbentrop were right, that the Western Powers are not really in the war but only pretend to be. Thus the general anxiety and the depression which were far worse in Germany than in any other country have been relieved very considerably. On the other hand terrorism has increased in Germany. Executions, often numbering 20 at a time, have been carried out in many towns, particularly in industrial areas. But the ordinary people can bear that too as long as there appears to be no war. British propaganda is not likley to have much effect until Germany begins to suffer some real reverses.

Russian Lake Mussolini at one time was credited with the intention of adding the Mediterranean to the Italian lakes. The task was beyond his power; but the Russians are more likely to be successful in making a Russian lake of the Black Sea, over over which they can exercise undisputed sway, according to "Truth." Circumstances are in their favour; the Black Sea, unlike the Mediterranean is not a thorough fare but a blind alley, and of the four countires which border it—Russia, Rumania, Bulgaria and Turkey—the first is enormously the strongest. One of the chief purposes of the recent visit of the Turkish Foreign Minister to Moscow was said to be to discuss the control of the Dardanelles. Turkey keeps her job at the box-office; but, if one may strain the metaphor, tickets of admission henceforward will have to be countersigned by the Kremlin. Both the other riparian owners are proving similarly amenable. Since the Russian forces outflanked the Germans in southeast Poland the influence of Moscow has been growing in Rumania, and a pro-Russian policy there is the only chance of saving Bessarabia, the Rumanian province on which Stalin has so long cast covetous eyes. Bulgaria is less immediately threatened; but she has always been susceptible to Pan-Slav propaganda, and the proposals for a trade agreement and a direct airline linking the two countries illustrate the speed with which her rapprochement with Russia is advancing. The question one naturally asks is how far this affects British interests, and the answer seems to be that we, far more than Germany, can face with equanimity the fait accompli of the new Russian lake. Our Black Sea trade has never been more than a side-line, and now that we know who controls the entrance we shall not be tempted to intervene in a region where troops and ships could be caught like mice in a trap.

* * *

Alternative Fate of Ships Our Naval correspondent writes, says "Horse and Hound": I wonder if there is any such thing as "bad luck,"or is it merely the absence of good luck? In my career at sea I have come across ships that seen to have been under an evil spell since the day they left the slipway. The Great Eastern was one of them. She ruined all her backers, and when she was broken up the skeleton of a workman was discovered between her double-bottom. Evidently the poor fellow had been trapped there in the construction, and she had carried his corpse on all her voyages. Knowing how superstitious sailors are about having a dead man in the ship all her bad luck was put down to this. Then there was the case of the Georgia, a ship belonging to the State Line. She seemed to possess a special aptitude for getting into trouble, and this may have been the reason why she was sold cheaply to the Aberdeen Line. On her first voyage with a general cargo she found herself in mid-Atlantic with not enough coal to reach Europe. Her captain decided to turn back. She managed to reach the St. Lawrence when the pilot put her ashore. She was refloated, but was so damaged that she spent the whole of the summer in dock. In the following November she set again for Europe, and when 150 miles off Newfoundland she slipped her propeller, which fouled her rudder, and she was unable to steer. For a whole week she drifted about out of control, and at last she was sighted and assisted back to port. On her next voyage to New York she never was heard of again. Take the case also of the Maylands. On her first trip her engines collapsed, and the engineers had all their work cut out to patch her up sufficiently to make St. John's. There she was overhauled and set off again. Hardly had she cleared the coast than her steering gear broke down. She was taken in tow by the Hibernia, and almost reached port, but the night before a fearful storm came up. All that night the Hibernia towed her, but in the morning there was no sight of her at all. On hauling the hawser the end was found still fast, but only the forecastle of the ship was holding on. The rest of the ship had been torn away, and sunk with all hands. So it is with some humans. It seems that whichever way they turn some evil genius takes care that success is still the will o' the wisp, and not within their grasp.

Holland Resolved To Defend Neutrality

Tension and Anxiety Growing Over Fears of Possible German Invasion; Dutch Troops Go To Frontier Posts; Flood Defences Prepared

Amsterdam, Nov. 11.

TENSION and anxiety are growing throughout Holland as a result of the expected early evacuation of foreign nationals and the decision of the Government to flood the main defences. The French Consul at Amsterdam has unofficially advised French women to return home if there is no special reason to remain in Holland, while the United States Minister at the Hague is said to be advising Americans that if they want to leave Holland or to send their women and children away, "now is the good time to do so."

People in the streets of Amsterdam and The Hague display grave faces as they discuss the progress of the Government's defence measures, which are being carried out with the minimum delay, but there is no official explanation why they are necessary. Herr Hitler's threat of a forthcoming offensive against Britain, his conference with his generals immediately on his return to Berlin, and the heightened anti-British feeling aroused by the attempt on his life have increased apprehension, and people are wondering whether the German Chancellor may not have decided that November 11 is an appropriate date to launch a terrific attack. Whatever happens, Netherlanders are determined to resist.

Floods which can be maintained at a depth of 28 inches will render territory neither fordable nor navigable, except for flat-bottomed boats. The whole area is seamed with canals which would make first-class tank traps. If a very severe frost renders the water plains passable, the water level will be raised and lowered alternatively to break the ice.

This is the first time since 1672 that Holland is flooding the countryside. Inundated areas will be rendered unfit for cultivation for several years, especially if salt water is admitted.

The latest defence measures include the requisitioning of the sanatorium at Zeist to accommodate soldiers and orders for certain lighthouses along the coast to be extinguished and for all lightships, except one, to return to harbour.

Although the flooding of the main defence line has started, it is not certain that the work will be completed immediately. The inhabitants of Baarn near the southern shores of the Zuider Zee, and Ziet, are reported to have been ordered to evacuate the towns, as the surroundings will be flooded very shortly. Part of the land near the Baarn is already under water.

Reports that British subjects have been advised to leave Holland are described as unfounded.

Minimum of Publicity

The latest defence measures are receiving the minimum of publicity, and news of the extension of the flooding has hitherto not been published in the newspapers. Nevertheless, there is increasing anxiety.

Guards have been doubled outside Government buildings at The Hague where the only explanation suggested is that the guards are present to prevent a sudden attempt to seize the buildings. Everything is being done to keep the public calm.

Two long Cabinet meetings were held yesterday, and a visit paid by the Commander-in-Chief of the army to Queen Wilhelmina has been scarcely mentioned in the press. Officials at The Hague insist that there is no cause for anxiety and deprecate the alarmist interpretation of the Dutch situation said to be current in London and Paris. It is categorically denied that Germany has presented intimidating demands to Belgium and Holland.

The military preparations have been marred by two fatal explosions. Four soldiers were killed when a land mine exploded in the province of Gelderhand, and a soldier and a civilian were killed in similar circumstances at Grosings.—Reuter.

Dutch Version of Border Clash

The Hague, Nov. 11.

The Netherlands version of the shooting incident on the German-Netherlands frontier, near the town of Venlo, on Thursday is contained in a semi-official statement issued today.

At 4.30 p.m. on Thursday, it says, a Dutch car was stopped just before the frontier, and two occupants alighted. Thereupon, half a dozen persons in civilian clothes ran up and fired on them, with the result that one is believed to have been killed and the other badly injured. Then a car crossed the border from Germany and returned with the Dutch car, including the two shot men and other occupants. The whole incident occurred so suddenly, the statement continues, that it was impossible to prevent it.

The Netherlands Government, it adds, has informed the German Government of the occurrence, and has asked for an enquiry. Meanwhile, the Dutch authorities are said to be collecting all available evidence.—Reuter.

Washington Not Advised

Washington, Nov. 10.

Knowledge was disclaimed by the State Secretary, Mr. Cordell Hull, today of consular advice to American citizens in Belgium and the Netherlands to evacuate unless absolutely compelled to remain. American diplomatic services, he added, were empowered to give such advice without consulting Washington.—Havas.

Dutch Troops Aligned

The Hague, Nov. 11.

All Army, Air Force and police furloughs have been cancelled indefinitely and a United Press correspondent who toured the zone close to the German frontier yesterday found great activity and progress being made on Dutch defences. Armies of workmen, working at top speed, were rushing to completion new trenches, tank traps and barricades. Reliable quarters reported that at least 10,000 additional Dutch troops had been moved into the frontier zone in the past three days.

The American and British consuls have been quietly urging their nations to leave the Netherlands unless they have urgent business here. No official evacuation orders have been issued for the 1,500 Americans and 1,200 Britons in the Netherlands.

Throughout the border areas there is complete calm among inhabitants and soldiers.—United Press.

Paris Convinced Invasion Near

French Observers See Both Belgian, Dutch Neutrality Violated

Paris, Nov. 10.

Yet once again will sacred German pledges be broken and another land be trampled under the heel of aggression, for German action against the Netherlands is imminent, French political quarters asserted tonight.

Utmost concern was voiced over the hourly increasing German threat to the independence and liberty of the western neutrals, Belgium and Holland. No confirmation was received here of alleged intimidating demarches made by the Reich in Brussels and The Hague, but the danger hanging over the two capitals was declared to be no less real for all that.

Overt Reichswehr activity along the Dutch and Belgian frontiers, frequent reconnaissance flights over the neutrals' territory by German warplanes, and the rumour campaign launched by German propaganda in other neutral capitals, were taken to be extremely ominous signs.

Moreover, Adolf Hitler's announced determination to wage war to the hilt against Britain following the alleged attempt on his life in Munich on Wednesday last, was seen here as an open forecast of action against the Netherlands.

The Fuehrer will be bound by no former promises of his, promises to respect the integrity of the traditionally neutral States, French observers declared. To wage total war against Britain he needs air bases closer to the British Isles than those in Germany; he needs air bases in the Netherlands.

Question Now Only, "When?"

German action against the Netherlands is imminent. Another small country faces pitiless attack. The only question now is: When will the field-grey hosts of Germany drive across the border in their pledge-breaking offensive? Attacks may be made as follows:

1. In the direction of the Dutch coast to obtain at once air bases nearest to Britain;
2. By turning Belgian defence lines through the Netherlands;
3. Along the whole of the German frontier to find the weakest point in the defence system.

Whatever the Reich's final decision, both Belgium and the Netherlands will be ready to stand by their guns and fight for their independence and liberty, political quarters here stated.

Military questions were certainly discussed when King Leopold of the Belgians and Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands held their recent conference at The Hague. King Leopold was accompanied by his Army Chief of Staff, it was pointed out. Although no military pact binds Belgium to her peace-loving neighbour, the geographical solidarity of the two countries is too great to permit localization of any German attack on one of them. Both live or die together.

The only hopeful aspect of the whole dire situation, the French quarters concluded, is the fact that no large-scale German propaganda has been launched to stir up the German people against the Dutch.—Havas.

Palestine Settlement Not Impossible

"Arab Majority to Keep Control," Says Iraq Premier

SPECIAL TO THE "N.C.D.N."

Baghdad, Nov. 10.

Results of the endeavours to secure a just settlement of the Palestine problem were not entirely unsatisfactory, declared General Nuri es-Said, the Prime Minister of Iraq.

"We no longer fear that Palestine will become Zionist," he added, "and we have no doubt that the Arab majority will continue to control their country. When Great Britain has settled the problem of Jewish immigration in a manner acceptable to the Arabs, she will find no difficulty in reassuring them of her intentions and setting up an independent State in Palestine."—Reuter.

Belgium in Arms to Defend Neutrality

Cabinet Holds Long Session; Extremist Journals Suppressed

Berne, Nov. 10.

Six hundred thousand Belgians stand to arms today, ready and willing to defend the liberty and integrity of their country, the Hague correspondent of the "Neue Zurcher Zeitung" reported today. Military precautions were reinforced in Belgium and the Netherlands, he added, because of diplomatic parleys on the international situation and of the reactions to the Belgian-Dutch mediation offer.

Large-scale movements of German troops were observed near the Belgian and Dutch frontiers, the newspaper added, and anxiety was heightened by reports on the construction of new bridges across the Rhine by German sappers. The correspondent stated that the Dutch people were still roused over the recent discovery of German contraband in Dutch military uniforms. Several Germans were arrested in the Netherlands for smuggling all types of uniforms across the border into the Reich.—Havas.

Belgian Cabinet Meets

Brussels, Nov. 11.

Close study was given the international situation at the extraordinary Belgian Cabinet meeting that ended at 12.15 a.m. today after three hours and fifteen minutes behind closed doors. No official communique was published. The Foreign Minister, M. Paul-Henri Speak, and the War Minister, General Denis, held private parleys after the plenary Cabinet conference.

Belgium struck at the Nazi and Communist press yesterday when it was decided to suspend indefinitely the Rexist newspaper, "Pays Reel," a Flemish Communist newspaper, and the Wallonian radical newspaper "Journal de Charleroi." The Government also forbade circulation of the German anti-Semitic organ, "Die Sturmer." Suspension of the "Pays Reel" followed the organ's publication of violently anti-British articles.

Slightly misjudging his position, a British warplane pilot brought his craft down at Courtrai, near the French frontier, and he and his crew were interned, it was announced this evening. An enquiry was launched immediately into the causes of the affair. It was denied that a German craft also landed on Belgian territory today.

Belgian Neutrality Affirmed

"We are passing through grave hours," the semi-official "Independance Belge" wrote today, "and international tension is at a climax. The manner in which the belligerents received our appeal for mediation leaves hardly any hope for peace in the near future. It is probable that we will shortly see a recrudescence of military operations, but is that to be taken to mean that Belgium is directly menaced and that we should permit ourselves to be discouraged? —No! The Belgian Government's policy of strict neutrality has shown the whole world that we have a clean diplomatic record and that we have given no one the least cause to drag us into the struggle. What is more, despite all the rumours, we continue to believe that Belgium will be spared the worst."—Havas.

R.A.F. Chase Off German Raiders from East Coast; Dornier Bomber Downed; West Front Attacks Fail

London, Nov. 11.

Air Raid Alarm Sounded in Paris

Paris, Nov. 11.

Parisians were abruptly awakened at 4.45 a.m. this morning by an air raid warning, the first sounded in the capital in over a month. The all-clear signal was given at 6 a.m. No planes were sighted and the reasons for the warning have not yet been divulged. There was some reduced activity on the Western Front last night, this morning's official General Staff communique announced.

French Lafayette Pilots Celebrate

Last Bottle of Whiskey Left by American Fliers Opened to Toast Victory

With French Army in Field
Nov. 11.

A treasured relic of the original Lafayette Escadrille—the last bottle of Scots whiskey which the American pilots of the famous Great War squadron left as a heritage to the present all-French squadron which inherited their name and glory—was uncorked and nine portions handed round yesterday, as the Lafayette flyers celebrated the greatest air victory of the current war. That was the victory of nine Lafayette fliers against three times their number of German planes in an air battle in which the French shot down nine German Messerschmidt planes without a single loss.

"Immediately upon my arrival at the front, where five American correspondents who are the first Americans to reach the Western Front in the present war, arrived yesterday with special credentials from General Marie Gustave Gamelin, Commander-in-Chief of the French and allied Armies, I helped celebrate the victory, as well as perpetrating the traditions of the old squadron which I saw in action 21 years ago in the days of Lufberry Thaw," writes Mr. Ralph Heinzen, the United Press correspondent.

American Materials Used

It was a new Lafayette squadron, flying Curtiss pursuit planes, which swooped on the 27 Messerschmidts when the Germans "ganged up" on two French reconnaissance planes over the French lines, "somewhere between the Moselle and the Rhine."

Only seven of the German planes shot down can be officially counted, because two fell inside the German lines and the French General Staff was ruled that only German planes shot down inside and behind French lines count.

The French were enthusiastic, especially technicians and pilots, over American planes and guns.—United Press.

Waves of German infantry broke against French lines along the Western Front yesterday when two local attacks were launched by the Reich's Army, an official communique announced last night. "Two local attacks," the French Headquarters asserted, "were made but the German troops, after recording slight progress, were compelled to turn back under our infantry and artillery fire. There was aviation activity on both sides during the day."

The two unsuccessful German attacks yesterday were described this morning in a semi- official bulletin. The German air force was more active yesterday morning than it had been for the two previous days. Not only were air raid warnings sounded in several French districts, including Paris, and cities such as Lille and Maubeuge overflown, but the German planes indulged in repeated observation flights over and behind the Maginot line. The planes played an important part in supporting the infantry units during the two attacks on the Lorraine front.

Although German fighting machines did not take a direct part in the attacks—as no low flying and machine-gun straffing was done—observation planes constantly flew over sectors where fighting was in progress, strongly protected by pursuit planes which were protected by another batch of fighting planes flying at a high attitude.

The German attacks occurred on comparatively restricted fronts, one of 1,000 metres and the other of 1,600 metres.

They were carefully prepared by intensive artillery fire directed at the sectors behind the French advanced positions.

French Outposts Evacuated

The French outposts were evacuated as French troops withdrew to their defence positions until the German attackers came within the line of the French artillery fire. Heavy shelling took place in conjunction with staccato machine-gun firing.

The Germans, who had started consolidating the gains they believed to have made, were compelled to retreat hastily to their former positions. Late in the afternoon, all the French outposts had been re-occupied by French infantry.—Havas.

German Raids Off Britain

London, Nov. 10.

German warplanes engaged in extensive though unimportant activity over British coasts today when one of the raiders, a Dornier seaplane, was forced down in the North Sea after a brief fight with two R.A.F. Coastal Command craft.

The Air Ministry, in an official communique, stated that the battle occurred off the east coast and that the German craft sank soon after landing while the crew was saved upon taking to its collapsible dinghy. Another enemy plane was also engaged by the R.A.F. fighters, but managed to escape in the clouds, the Ministry added.

From the Shetland Islands it was reported that a German plane, believed to be a Heinkel bomber, flew over the isles presumably on reconnaissance duty. It flew off without dropping bombs.

Anti-Overcoat Drive Started in Tokyo In Sympathy with Soldiers in China

No Hats or Canes to Be Carried, New Association Decides; House to House Canvass to Be Made

Tokyo, Nov. 11.

An anti-cane-carrying, overcoat and hat-wearing campaign was launched today in Tokyo, the "Miyako Shimbun" reported.

Sponsor of the movement was the Anti-Overcoat Wearing Society which decided at a meeting on Wednesday to begin a drive against not only overcoat-wearing this winter but also aginst hat-wearing and cane-carrying.

Leaders of the drive believe that the people of Japan should show their respect in this way for the hardships now being suffered by the soldiers on the China war front.

The society plans to begin a street-by-street canvass in Tokyo, urging the people to discard their overcoats, hats and canes.

One of the proponents of the campaign was Mr. Hideo Arima, 72-year-old member of the Tokyo Municipal Assembly, who on Wednesday voted for an extension of the society's aims.—Domei.

The Federal Council, yesterday decided to recall a limited number of troops to the Swiss Army, consisting of a number of squadrons of cavalry and two battalions of infantry. The Cabinet also ordered a physical re-examination of those aged 20 to 40 who were declared unfit for military service or assigned to auxilliary services.—United Press.

Tokyo Talks Still Continuing

Lengthy Conversations Between British Envoy, Gaimusho Official Held

FROM PERCY WHITING

N.C.D.N. Special Correspondent in Japan

Tokyo, Nov. 11.

That Anglo-Japanese conversations are simmering is shown by the fact that Sir Robert Craigie, H. M. Ambassador to Japan, had a lengthy conference with Mr. M. Tani, Vice-Minister of Foreign Affairs, yesterday, according to a spokesman of the Gaimusho with whom I talked on the subject.

Both the European situation and the Tientsin question were touched upon during these conversations, the spokesman told me, but nothing definite has been arranged. It is assumed that the incident involving the Imperial Airways liner Dardanus which was forced to land on Waichow Island on November 8, was also discussed.

The British Embassy here confirmed that talks regarding the European and Tientsin situations had taken place but it was emphasized that Sir Robert did not advance any direct overtures regarding the resumption of Tientsin negotiations.

In a statement to the press released by the British Embassy here, reports that Sir Robert had attempted for the second time to arrange a resumption of negotiations, were officially denied.

Scope Curtailed

Tokyo, Nov. 11.

In an interview yesterday with Mr. Masayuki Tani, Vice-Minister of Foreign Affairs, Sir Robert Craigie, the British Ambassador, contended that Anglo-Japanese issues in China should be adjusted in co-ordination with Japanese-American and other third power matters, according to Japanese press reports.

Japanese sources, however, state that Mr. Tani firmly maintained that Japanese relations with Britain in China should be adjusted independently of Japan's relations with other countries in China.

No progress is said to have been made towards a resumption of the suspended Anglo-Japanese talks on Tientsin questions owing to widely divergent views regarding the basis for such a resumption.

The Ambassador's viewpoint is alleged to have remained practically unchanged since his previous meeting with Mr. Tani.

Reuter understands that though Sir Robert Craigie discussed numerous Anglo-Japanese issues, he did not bring up the question of a resumption of the suspended conversations.—Reuter.

British Attitude Stiffens

Tokyo, Nov. 11.

The Japanese press reported today that Britain has recently been stiffening her attitude toward Japan in problems involving China, following the lead of the United States.

The talk here this week between the British Ambassador to Japan, Sir Robert Craigie, and the Vice-Minister of Foreign Affairs, Mr. Masayuki Tani, dealt with British-owned coal mines in China, the Japanese press said.

Britain, the paper said, contends that Japanese authorities in China have been interfering with the opera-

British Empire and France Observe Armistice Day

Ceremonial Curtailed to Laying Wreaths at Tomb Of Unknown Soldier of Last War; Poppies Sold

London, Nov. 11.

THE 21st anniversary of Armistice Day was celebrated throughout Great Britain and the Empire in the restrained atmosphere of war. There was no parade in Whitehall and no official two-minutes' silence but the silence was generally observed in offices and homes at 11 a.m. One customary feature of the historic anniversary, however, remained unchanged—the service in Westminster Abbey. To avoid crowds in Whitehall a time-table was drawn up for delegations of Old Comrades' and Regimental Associations laying wreaths on the Cenotaph.

The King's wreath of poppies and cornflowers was placed on the Cenotaph by his Equerry. All the Dominions' High Commissioners in London also laid wreaths on this national shrine of remembrance. From an early hour special police were on duty to prevent crowds from gathering along Whitehall. Red poppies were sold in millions throughout the country and with the poppies appeared the French cornflowers—a symbol of the Allies' unity.

Ceremonies overseas were more impressive, especially in Australia, where a special service was held in front of Parliament House.—Reuter.

France Observes Anniversary

Paris, Nov. 11.

The 21st anniversary of the Armistice was not a holiday this year and as all shops and offices remained open, but the traditional Flanders poppies were sold in the streets. An official ceremony, attended by the President of France, M. Albert Lebrun, all the members of the Government, and the military authorities, took place this morning at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, when the usual minute of silence was observed. Detachments of British, French, and Polish troops were present during the ceremony which was watched by a silent crowd. A number of patriotic organisations paid homage to the war dead in various cemeteries.

"Victory for the Allies in the present conflict is certain, for the British and French Empires constitute the most powerful group in the world," M. Lebrun stated in a radio broadcast on the occasion. Speaking in a solemn voice filled with emotion, the President pointed out that "today, November 11, 1939, everything is changed. The parade of our army, in its massive formations, is absent. In the moving minute of silence which followed the Reveille, our thoughts not only went to this past which already seems so far back, to the sufferings and horrors and glories of the other war. They also went to the victims of the new conflict and to the questions of the future."—Havas.

Airways Pilots Held By Japanese

Dardanus Not Yet Freed From Waichow Island

Hongkong, Nov. 11.

The two pilots of the Dardanus, British Imperial Airways plane, and a batch of mail were being held by Japanese authorities at Canton, the British Admiralty said today.

The plane, with three passengers aboard, was forced down on Waichow Island by the Japanese for violating flying restrictions over the Japanese-occupied island.

The three passengers, who arrived in Hongkong yesterday afternoon, according to the "South China Morning Post" today, said the plane was flying at an altitude of "at least 4,000 feet and well away from Waichow." The passengers were brought here on the U.S. gunboat Mindanao.

The incident was now being studied by the British Admiralty, the paper said.

The aircraft was going from Hongkong to Bangkok at the time it was forced to land.—Domei.

No Contact with Pilots

Canton, Nov. 11.

Interviewed by Reuter regarding the incident involving the Imperial Airways flying-boat Dardanus, the British Consul here, Mr. Gerald Tyrrell, said that he had so far been unable to speak with the pilot, Joe Wilson, who is still being held by the Japanese Naval authorities for questioning.

The Dardanus was forced down on Waichow Island on Wednesday when she was on the way to Bangkok from Hongkong. The Japanese authorities, he added, had promised to release the Dardanus as soon as it was repaired.

The mail carried by the machine, which has been handed over to the British Consul, will probably be sent to Hongkong on Monday.—Reuter.

New York 'Change Market Reactions

Belga, Guilder Easier; Sterling Steadier But Thin; Neutrals Selling

New York, Nov. 10.

Both the belga and the guilder on the New York Foreign Exchange market today felt the weight of capital seeking refuge in the United States, as a result of fears of a German flanking attack through the Low Countries.

The three months forward rate on guilders was quoted today at 185, discount, compared with yesterday's quotation of 60. However, the spot rate held steady at 53.08, owing to strong official control, as the Bank of Holland is believed to have transferred a large part of its gold to the United States last year, acting as support against the flight of capital.

The belga declined sharply, being listed at 16.08, against yesterday's level of 16.45, whilst the three months forward rate widened from 30, discount, to 45, discount. The decline of the belga was due to reports circulated that there was a large demand for the dollar in Brussels, both from people seeking to leave Belgium and to the shift of capital.

Sterling Steadier

Sterling presented a steadier appearance, though the market was thin and nervous because of offerings of as much as £200,000 having a great influence on the course of trading.

The opening sterling quotation was listed at 3.81½ and the closing at 3.86½, compared with yesterday's final level of 3.85. The high for the day was 3.89 and the low 3.81⅜.

Dealers said that there was a difference of opinion as to the principal pressure against sterling, although it was pointed out that Belgian and Netherland selling had appeared in the market as well as other neutrals, including Japanese, South American and even Rumanian.

However, American importers are believed to have already covered their needs for the immediate future at higher rates, and not to have entered the market to any great extent this week.—Reuter.

Bulls Discouraged in Tokyo

Tokyo, Nov. 11.

Pessimism reigned on the Tokyo Stock Market yesterday as bulls were discouraged by reports that Belgium and the Netherlands were seeking to mediate in the European war and that U.S. Steel had most ground, the "Chugai Shogyo" reported today. Stocks moved erratically, silks on the Yokohama and Kobe markets declining. Reports of Government plans drastically to trim the 1940-41 budget also contributed to the pessimistic attitude on the market, the commercial daily said.—Domei.

Princess Hohenlohe's Part in Munich Settlement Revealed

Claimant Against Lord Rothermere Attacked for Having Photostat Copies Made of Letters

London, Nov. 10.

HOW Herr Hitler might have helped Princess Stefanie Hohenlohe-Waldenburg in her case against Lord Rothermere, and how "her groundwork had made the Munich Agreement possible," were revealed at the resumption in the King's Bench Division of the High Court today of the Princess's action for damages for breach of contract against the newspaper magnate. The Princess was cross-examined by Sir William Jowitt on a confidential letter from Herr Hitler's personal adjutant, Captain Wiedemann, to Lord Rothermere stating, inter alia:

The letter stated, inter alia, that, "You know that the Fuehrer greatly appreciates the work the Princess did to straighten relations between our two countries.....It is her groundwork which made the Munich Agreement possible. Furthermore, it was the Princess who introduced you to the Fuehrer. In these circumstances, considering the chivalrous character and magnanimity of the Fuehrer, besides the real friendship he has for the Princess, there is no doubt in my mind that he will grant her any help he can in her fight to re-establish her personal honour and financial status."

The letter added that nevertheless it would be unpleasant for him.

Sir William Jowitt: "Why?"

The Princess: "Because he hates publicity" (laughter).

Sir William Jowitt read Lord Rothermere's reply, which stated: "I am very sure that the Fuehrer does not wish to be troubled in regard to such a trumpery question as to whether Princess Hohenlohe-Waldenburg has any claim against me....I have treated the lady with the fullest generosity..."

Lord Rothermere added that he was quite prepared to cross over to Germany to explain anything to the personal satisfaction of Herr Hitler.

"To Help a Friend and a Lady"

Captain Wiedemann, in replying, said, although it might be unpleasant for the Fuehrer, "he might feel obliged, in order to help a friend and a lady," to grant her permission to produce in court the letters exchanged between Lord Rothermere and Herr Hitler.

Captain Wiedemann added that, after examining the circumstances of the claim, he could not request, nor advise, the Princess to drop her claim against Lord Rothermere.

The Princess denied that Captain Wiedemann was doing his "level best to put pressure on Lord Rothermere to settle the case." She said that Lord Rothermere brought pressure on her three days before the case started, to withdraw the claim.

Questioned regarding a £25,000 offer from some Philadelphia publishers, the Princess admitted that she was no authoress and had never written an article. She could not remember the name of the person who signed the letter containing the offer, but recalled showing the letter to Lord Rothermere.

Sir William Jowitt remarked: "Lord Rothermere is saying that the Princess never mentioned anything of the sort to him."

The Princess retorted: "Then I am sorry that Lord Rothermere is saying a lie. The offer displeased him very much. He only engaged me because he wanted me to be tied up with him."

Case for Lord Rothermere

In opening the case for Lord Rothermere, Sir William Jowitt said the Viscount had made no secret of the fact that it was perfectly easy for him to pay all, and more than all, that the Princess desired. But Lord Rothermere considered that the claim was not an honest one, and felt it was his duty to resist it.

Regarding the libellous statements about the Princess in the Continental press, Sir William Jowitt said Lord Rothermere took the view that it was best to treat them with the contempt they deserved.

The Princess was anxious to bring a libel action. He dissuaded her, and no more. There was no question of forcing her not to take action.

Lord Rothermere, continued counsel, had never heard of any suggestion of supporting her for life, and he, therefore, instructed his solicitors to write saying that the claim was not an honest one, "and the Princess knew it was not."

Sir William Jowitt then attacked the Princess for having had photostat copies made of private letters in the case.

"Lord Rothermere," he said, "never had the slightest idea that this lady was having his letters photographed behind his back by the special photographic bureau of the department of the German Chancellor."

The case was then adjourned.—Reuter.

Birthday of Sun Yat-sen Today

Tomorrow to Be Observed As Holiday; National Flags Will Be Flown Today

Chinese banks and many other public organizations in Shanghai will be closed to-morrow in celebration of the birthday of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, founder of the Republic of China and late leader of the Kuomintang who died 14 years ago in Peiping. The birth day falls today, but since it is a Sunday the general holiday will be observed on Monday.

The only sign of celebration today will be the display of Chinese national flags in the city. There will be no celebration meetings because of the changed situation in Shanghai, but in the interior such meetings will be held. Local Chinese are allowed to hoist their flags today, being one of the eight days in the year on which flags are permitted as a result of an agreement between the authorities of foreign areas and local Chinese public bodies.

Chinese philanthropic bodies will double their efforts today to collect funds for making winter clothes for Chinese soldiers and refugees, as a national campaign for winter clothes has been launched by Chungking. The Chinese here have so far contributed $200,000, but they want to continue the campaign to raise more money.

Mr. Wang Ching-wei issued a statement yesterday on the occasion of Dr. Sun's birthday. In this statement he expressed his regret that the late party leader's principles had not been faithfully carried out, and took pains to explain why, if he were still alive, he would stand for peace if Japan does not want to subjugate China. Just before his death Dr. Sun was said to have stated while in Japan, that any intention of subjugation would end in calamity for both nations. Mr. Wang finally stated that, should the peace movement not attain its goal, then the Chinese must fight, otherwise "we must unite in the peace movement and march on towards the realization of the Three People's Principles for the welfare of China."

After the conclusion of the seventh meeting of the United Council of the "Provisional" and "Reformed Governments," to be held some time this month in Tsingtao, the central political council will be established, the paper adds. Reuter.

The "Miyako Shimbun" meanwhile reported that the Japanese Foreign Minister, Admiral K. Nomura, may visit China in connection with the establishment of the new Japanese-controlled Nanking regime under the dismissed Kuomintang official, Wang Ching-wei.

The new Chinese regime, the paper said, either will urge Japan to denounce the Nine Power Treaty, which guarantees China's territorial integrity, or will denounce it itself.

The paper said the question, of whether Germany grants recognition to the new Wang regime in China will be a test of Germany's friendship toward Japan.—United Press.

Talks at Stalemate

Tokyo, Nov. 11.

No formal negotiations have been started between Admiral Nomura, Japanese Foreign Minister, and Mr. Joseph C. Grew, American Ambassador, according to the "Asahi."

The first interview between the two diplomats on November 4, the newspaper says, was merely of a preliminary nature.

The two conversations between Mr. Tani, Vice-Minister for Foreign Affairs, and Sir Robert Craigie, British Ambassador, the journal continues, were also preliminary parleys on some pending questions between Japan and Great Britain, not a general discussion of the full list of pending problems involving British interests in China.

Judging from indications, the Asahi adds, Japan's negotiations with Great Britain and America have apparently reached a stalemate with no prospect for a removal of the difficulties.—Reuter.

"The Times" Comments On Fuehrer's Speech

Exception Taken to Charges Made Against British Rule

SPECIAL TO THE "N.C.D.N."

London, Nov. 10.

Comparison between the latest speeches by the Prime Minister, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, and Herr Hitler are drawn today by "The Times" which cites Mr. Chamberlain's reference to the mediation offer by the Low Countries, and his reiteration that Britain does not want to continue the war a day longer if settlement can be obtained in some other way, and contrasts it with the tone of Herr Hitler's speech.

"Indeed the German Chancellor's speech, far from suggesting a more pacific temper, was more than usual a mixture of bragging and vilification. "The former can best be left to be answered by events. The more flagrant lies call for a few words of reply."

Dealing with Herr Hitler's familiar taunt of "lip service" paid by Great Britain to freedom, "while upholding the Empire by force," the journal says at the table where Mr. Chamberlain's speech was read were sitting representatives of the Dominions and the Indian Government, while in Palestine—"habitually cited as the outstanding example of British tyranny"—both Arabs and Jews have suspended strife to leave free the members of the Mandatory Power.

"There is indeed no part of the Dominions of the British Crown, however remote in blood from the English, however recently acquired, however ambitious for wider autonomy, where the Government requires so much military force or such severe repression of opinion to sustain its rule as Herr Hitler uses to hold down his own Germans.

"Nevertheless," the newspaper continues, "it is a sheer falsehood to say, as Herr Hitler said, that we are fighting the war merely to free Germans from his domination. If the German people like to be governed in his way, that is no concern of ours. If ever they come to desire freedom, they must take if for themselves.

"We fight not to free the Germans, who we are prepared to believe are willing slaves, but the nations whom Herr Hitler has enslaved by force, and those who cannot enjoy the fruits of native liberty so long as his continued threat of aggression overhangs them."—Reuter.

In recognition of his meritorious services to the country, the Chinese National Government in Chungking has ordered posthumous honours to be conferred upon General Liao Lui, says a Chungking Chinese message to the "Sin Wan Pao." General Liao, who was Chairman of the Anhwei Provincial Government, passed away recently, the report states.

News has just been received from Lindis Farne, Essex, England that Alec Uydens, formerly of the Western District Public School for Boys, has obtained his Cambridge Matriculation certificate (exempt). He will take up aeronautical engineering at Loughborough College, Leicestershire. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Luvinus Uydens, of Shanghai.

The marriage took place at South Church, Aberdeen, on September 14, of Mr. Allan Youngson, formerly associated with Imperial Chemical Industries, Ltd., of Shanghai, and Mrs. Alice Kiloh, also for many years a resident of Shanghai. Mr. and Mrs. Youngson, who have many friends in Shanghai, have made their permanent home at 32 Elmbank Terrace, Aberdeen.

Owing to an error in proof-reading the text of a Hongkong message headed "Ambassador Denies Peace Talks In Chungking," gave an entirely different version from the title. The message should have read:—

The British Ambassador, Sir Archibald Kerr, who is staying here for a time on his journey back to Shanghai from Chungking, tonight denied recent press reports to the effect that he discussed Sino-Japanese peace terms during his visit to Chungking.

The death has taken place of Mrs. N. A. Macdonald (formerly of Milngavie) at the age of 74. Mrs. Macdonald, whose maiden name was Helen Adam Allison was born at Kilsyth on September 23, 1864, and was the authoress of the popular Scottish song "We're a' Scottish Here." She was well known as a poetess in the West of Scotland and contributed verses occasionally to "The Glasgow Herald" and other journals.

Until the new Bishop of London can take over, the diocese will be in charge of one of the most remarkable men the Church of England has ever produced—Dr. W. R. Matthews, the Dean of St. Paul's. Preferment in the Church is most usually reserved for men with the traditional public school and Oxford or Cambridge training. Dr. Matthews has none of this sort of history behind him. His school was Wilson's Grammar School, Camberwell, and his university was the "poor man's university"—London. He is acknowledged to be one of the most learned men we have, and it is no secret that his predecessor, Dr. Inge, another very learned man, did all he could to get Dr. Matthews the position.

Lord Ilkeston, who recently celebrated his 72nd birthday, is the only Stipendiary Magistrate who is also a peer. His father, who was recommended for his peerage by Mr. Asquith, will be better remembered by the older generation of politicians as Sir Walter Foster, a devoted supporter of the Liberal Party. The present peer was Stipendiary Magistrate for Birmingham when he succeeded to the peerage 26 years ago, and many people seemed to think he would retire, but he has preferred to go on with his interesting job. One of Lord Ilkeston's Christian names is Balthazar, which is the Greek form of Belshazzar, who, it may be remembered, was the last King of Babylon of the Chaldean dynasty.

Before taking her life by soaking her clothes with petrol and setting fire to herself outside her house during a blackout, a Liverpool woman—Mrs. Annie Jones, aged forty, of Chatham Street, Liverpool wrote a letter of gratitude to her husband: It read:—"I am sorry for the pain I have caused you. You have not deserved it. You have done everything for me—beautiful clothes, £140 to do what I liked with, sent me on lovely holidays. Never a birthday without giving me lovely present, and you always had a smile even when you were so tired you could hardly stand." Mrs. Jones took her life at her home on September 11. The verdict at the inquest was suicide while the balance of mind was disturbed.

Local Portuguese Organize

Form National Group to Promote Trade; Also Will Publish Magazine

Following several weeks of work on the part of a provisional committee of twelve drafted from a group of promoters, and the initiation of the Organisacao Nacional da Colonia Portuguesa de Shanghai on October 5, 1939 (National Day), a general assembly was convened and held on Friday at 400 Foklen Road.

The business of the assembly, honoured by the presence of Mr. J. A. Ribeiro de Melo, Consul-General for Portugal, and presided by Mr. C. E. L. Ozorio, was to review some work already done and results accomplished by the provisional committee, and to elect the effective committee for the period ending December 31, 1940.

The meeting was declared open by Mr. J. Roliz, erstwhile provisional president, who used the opportunity to welcome the Consul-General and to thank him on behalf of the assembly for honouring the occasion with his presence.

In speaking, the Consul-General praised Mr. J. Roliz and his co-workers for the excellent work done and results accomplished, and expressed his satisfaction in the happy choice of Mr. C. E. L. Ozorio, an old and outstanding member of the community, as chairman. He exhorted those present to continue to support and co-operate with this national organization, to assist whole-heartedly in the achievement of the purpose for which it was inaugurated, and emphasized the importance of having the entire community actively interested.

Aims of Organization

Following the Consul-General's speech, Mr. Roliz explained that the aim of this national organization is embodied in its motto: "Uniao, Trabalho e Progresso," meaning: unity, labour and progress. In reviewing the work so far accomplished, he presented for the approval of the assembly the project of a co-operative enterprise designed to promote trading in home, national and other products and commodities, and thereby assisting the entire community in the purchase of articles of prime need at moderate prices. The next item in the plans, he continued, will be the publication of a monthly review in Portuguese and English, the first issue of which is expected during the beginning of 1940. Both projects won the unanimous approval of the meeting.

Mr. C. E. L. Ozorio then announced that the next business on the agenda was the election of the effective committee, but, on suggestion, the assembly waived the election by ballot, and approved the election en bloc of the provisional committee of twelve to act as the effective committee until December 31, 1940. The following represent this committee: Messrs. J. Roliz (president), A. S. dos Remedios (vice-president), J. M. Gutterres (hon. secretary), M. H. Gutterres (hon. treasurer), E. J. Costa, F. de P. Gutterres, T. Baptista, J. V. Botelho, J. M. Britto, T. A. Carvalho, F. J. M. Costa, and C. J. Machado.

The other promoters are: Messrs. P. F. Victal, T. G. d'Oliveira, F. M. Guedes, A. M. Collaco, C. E. L. Ozorio, A. A. dos Remedios and E. I. Sequeira.

Before terminating the meeting, the chairman proposed a vote of thanks to the provisional committee, which was acclaimed.

Foreigner in Incident With Japanese

A Japanese civilian was nursing a black eye yesterday as a result of an encounter south of the Szechuen Road Bridge on Friday.

The facts were:

A foreigner was passing from north to south on the bridge when he was halted by the Japanese Naval Landing Party sentry on duty. The sentry is said to have made an attempt to search him. The man resented the attempt and told the sentry that he was an Indian and that he was not going to be touched. He is also said to have spoken rather strongly in English against the Landing Party man for challenging him.

Although the sentry apparently did not understand, a Japanese civilian standing nearby intervened and after the foreigner had proceeded south of the bridge upraided him, it is reported. The simple result was that the Japanese was hit squarely between the eyes and had to go to the Foo Min Hospital for treatment. A complaint was made by the Japanese later, asking that the Indian be arrested for assault.

Earlier in the morning, officers and men of the Battaglione San Marco held a short and impressive ceremony at their headquarters at 62 Robison Road, in honour of their King's birthday.

Chinese Woman Killed

A Chinese woman was knocked down and killed by a railless trolley at North Chekiang and Boone Roads shortly before noon yesterday.

Peculiar Death of Heroin Dealer

Charges Against Man Who Surreptitiously, Settled Case with Family

A Chinese woman morphine and heroin dealer inhaled some powdered drug in order to examine its quality. Some entered her nostrils and eventually her brain, causing her own death quite unexpectedly. A male customer of the woman dealer who gave her the poison so that she might compare it with her own stuff is alleged to have kept the matter hushed up, privately settling the whole affair with the woman's family by paying some $900.

The matter is receiving the attention of the Second Special District Court in the custody of which the woman's customer and retail dealer, Chen Ah-keng, and three employees of a Chinese hospital where the woman died on October 20 are. A verdict of death resulting from drug poison was returned on Friday by the Procurator who examined the unfortunate woman's remains. The coffin was opened for a close examination. The procurator is investigating the alleged secret disposal of the body and the cause of the trouble in order to draw up an indictment.

The dead woman was Mrs. Chen Ling-sze, a Cantonese drug dealer who lived at House 4 Lane 94 Ave. Edw. VII. One of the detained had been her customer for a number of years but recently he patronized another dealer thinking that the latter's cargo was much better. Being a little upset and wishing to ask her customer to clear up some account she went to the man's home and complained that he should not buy heroin from another source. He is alleged to have given a small quantity of the narcotic to the woman for an examination.

She was later taken to a Cantonese hospital in Avenue Dubail where she was given injections, but despite all efforts to save her life she succumbed the next morning. Authorities of the hospital are alleged to have been bribed and therefore did not report the matter to the police. Meanwhile, it is alleged, the detained customer paid the hush money to the family of the deceased. The French police, however, after making careful investigations arrested the quartette and found the remains of the woman in a Great Western Road coffin repository.

Briton's Bag is Snatched In Yu Yuen Road But No Help is Extended

Two Chinese members of the "Special Municipality" police in uniform are said to have ignored the pleas of a British lady for assistance on Friday evening after her handbag had been snatched by a Chinese in Yu Yuen Road west of Edinburgh Road.

The lady had just alighted from a bus at 8 o'clock and was walking towards the lane in which she lives when a Chinese walked up from behind and snatched her bag from under her arm. The thief started running, making for an alleyway leading off Yu Yuen Road.

The victim of the robbery immediately made an alarm and pursued the snatcher. She addressed herself to two Chinese members of the "Special Municipality" police present, in uniform and armed, near the scene of the crime. She reports that neither man made the slightest effort to help and that they did not even acknowledge the fact that she was appealing to them.

Consequently the two robbers had no difficulty in making good their escape by way of an alleyway leading from the south side of Yu Yuen Road into "Special Municipality" territory. The culprits had not been arrested yesterday.

Shanghai Pays Homage to War Dead on Armistice Day

Wreath-Laying Ceremonies at Cenotaph; Impressive Service Conducted at Holy Trinity Cathedral

THE Glorious Dead, those gallant heroes who gave up their lives in the Great War of 1914-18 for the cause for which many of their sons are enduring the hardships and dangers of battle in Europe today, the Defence of Democracy, were not forgotten in Shanghai yesterday. Although Shanghai's observance of the Day of Remembrance this year was more subdued than in the past, there appeared to be a calm dignity surrounding the occasion which was not apparent during similar anniversaries in the past twenty-five years.

The day's homage to the dead opened with the wreath-laying ceremony under the auspices of the United Services Association at the War Memorial at 8.30 a.m. Mr. A. H. Atkins, Chairman of the United Services Association laid the Association's wreath of Flanders Poppies at the foot of the Cenotaph during the ceremony. Others laying wreaths at the War Memorial during the ceremony were Major-General F. K. Simmons, on behalf of the British Forces in Shanghai; Rear-Admiral R. V. Holt, on behalf of the British Navy in Shanghai; Sir Robert Calder-Marshall and Mr. H. G. W. Woodhead, on behalf of the British Chamber of Commerce; the Royal Air Force Association; and the French Forces in Shanghai.

Following the laying of the various wreaths Dean A. C. S. Trivett conducted religious services from the steps of the War Memorial.

American Observance

At 11 a.m. the War Memorial was the scene of another wreath-laying ceremony as the Fourth Marines, the General Frederick Townsend Ward Post of the American Legion, and the American Women's Club gathered to pay homage to the American soldiers and sailors killed in the War. One platoon of Marines dressed in blue dress uniform were drawn up facing the Cenotaph and came to "present arms" as Col. J. C. Fegan and Lt.-Col. C. I. Murray placed a wreath at the foot of the War Memorial. Mr. Mark L. Moody laid the Legion's wreath, while Mrs. Wilbur Judd, President of the American Women's Club, laid a weath on behalf of her organization. Chaplain R. R. Marken gave a brief address following the wreath-laying ceremony.

The most impressive ceremony during the local observance of Armistice Day, however, was the service in Holy Trinity Cathedral which commenced at 10.45 a.m. Dean Trivett officiated at this service which opened with the hymn "O God our help in ages past" and included the "De profundis" and the Lesson taken from the Book of Wisdom.

Two-Minute Silence

Shortly before 11 a.m. a roll of drums by drummers from the 2nd Battalion, the East Surrey Regiment, announced the impending two-minute period of silence, the commencement of which was marked by the sounding of the Last Post by buglers from the East Surreys. The conclusion of the silent period was marked by the buglers blowing Reveille.

Immediately following the silence, Dean Trivett preached the following Armistice Day sermon, taken from the text "There was silence and I heard a voice." Job 4, 16.

Armistice Day has been called a Day of Remembrance and of Dreams. This is no doubt true for the older generation, but we are giving place to younger folk, to whom the names carved on our war memorials are simply names, and nothing else. To such we say, bear with our dreaming, for to us these are visible reminders of men and women who have lived and loved life, just as we do, but laid it down, that we might live. The years cannot make up for their loss. Hearts still cry out for them, and long for the touch of a vanished hand, and the sound of a voice that is stilled.

We sorrow not for them, but for ourselves. They shall not grow old, as we that are left grow old, age shall not weary them, nor the years condemn. At the going down of the sun, and in the morning, we will remember them. In their mouths might be put the words of salute and farewell, the recorder puts into that of one who was "Valiant for the truth," and for his King. "Then" said he, "I am going to my Fathers house; and though with great difficulty I am got thither, yet now I do not repent me of all the trouble I have been at to arrive where I am. My sword I give to him that can get it. My marks and my scars I carry with me, to be a witness for me that I have fought his battles, who now will be my rewarder." So he passed over and all the trumpets sounded for him on the other side.

Solemn Remembrance

And so it is that we have entered very reverently upon this our service of solemn remembrance. We have kept two minutes of silent homage. Borne back on the wings of memory old faces and old scenes lived again. Eyes looked into ours once more, and voices spoke in the stillness.

".....the challenge cried
Think not of me: one servant less or more
Means nothing now: hold fast the greater thing
Strike hard, love truth, serve Britain and the King."

For twenty-one years we have kept Armistice Day. Some have thought that the observance of the Day should be discontinued, or the manner of its keeping be drastically altered. But God forbid that we should cease, proudly and thankfully to remember the men who were our shield and defence in those war years. And who gave all that a man can give—life itself. Who gave their lives as the inscription on the Unknown Warriors Grave in Westminster Abbey records it,—

For God
For King and Country
For loved ones home and Empire
For the sacred cause of justice, and
The Freedom of the world.

Here and by this observance we remember those who were our comrades, and with them the great company of men of the Empire. To use quite literally the words of Holy Writ,—"A great multitude of all nations, and kindred, and people, and tongues."

Ten million men of the British Empire who were enrolled in her armies and served in her fighting forces, and of whom over a million made the supreme sacrifice. The unknown warriors grave, and many another memorial, and a forest of crosses beside all the battlefields of the war, mark the sacred dust of that million British dead. Men, who at the call of King and Country left their homes and loved ones, endured hardness, faced danger, and passed out of the sight of men by the path of duty and self-sacrifice. Laying down their lives that others might live.

Twenty-one years ago we thought that sacrific had not been in vain. The world had passed through the fire and we thought the dross had been burned away, and we thought that those qualities of courage and comradeship, of patience and kindliness, of self-sacrifice and service, wrought out in the fires of the war years, would usher in a golden age of peace and brotherliness. Even those whose loss had been greatest, consoled themselves that their heartbreak was the price of peace and a new world.

Growing Disillusionment

But the passing years have brought steadily growing disillusionment. And as we meet this morning in our service of Remembrence for those who died in what they thought and we thought was a war to end wars—we are again at war. We said it should never happen again, all echoed that resolution, but it has happened—we are at war. God forbid we should shirk our share of the responsibility. We have been selfish, often intolerant. Perhaps we have not understood as we should the desires and aspirations of others. Individually, we are blame-worthy. Shall we be wrong in saying that the nations have failed to consolidate the peace for which those we remember died, because we as individuals have not measured up to our responsibilities. But having said that, I say further. And without fear of successful contradiction, that as a nation we have honestly done our part to maintain peace and outlaw war. Our statesmen have fearlessly tried and explored every avenue toward a just settlement and an abiding peace. We practised disarmament until the day of crisis found us perilously unprepared to assume even the protection of our own shores, and much less the responsibilities the world expects from us. By our weakness smaller nations have suffered. And now in spite of all war has come. Again the British Empire speaks with one voice. From every part of the King's wide flung dominions comes support for the Mother Country. This war has not been of our seeking, we go into it with clean hands and resolute hearts.

Some lines written in 1914 by Owen Seaman are even more apt today.

"England in this great fight to which you go,
Because, where honour calls you, go you must;
Be glad, whatever comes, at least to know
You have your quarrel just.

Peace was our care; before the nations bar
Her cause you pleaded and her ends you sought;
But not for her sake, being what you are,
Could you be bribed or bought.

Others may spurn the pledge of land to land,
May with brute sword stain a gallant past
But by the seal to which you set your hand,
Thank God, you still stand fast."

Stand Firm For Justice

If we had failed in this hour to stand firm for justice and for truth, not only should we have broken faith with those to whom we had given our plighted word, we should have broken faith with those whose sacrifice we remember this morning—with whom we communed in the silence, whose voice:—

".....the challenge cried
.....hold fast the greater thing
Strike hard, love truth, serve Britain and the King."

Standing in the sight of the memorials we have raised to them we come asking the help of God to enable us to accept the challenge. For strength to nerve us for the new ordeal upon which we are entered. That we may dedicate ourselves afresh to follow their example of unselfish service.

There is work for each one to do. Something however small that each one may give. Those whom we remember this morning gave all that a man can give—life itself. And many today—even as we are gathered here—the men of the Services, and the Merchant Marine, are hazarding their lives in like manner. Shall we turn back then from our lesser calls to service and sacrifice? There is work for all. God help us to do it faithfully and well. Some who listen to my voice this morning must go forth into battle. Perchance descend into the valley of sacrifice, even as did the men whose memory we venerate today. But most of us will serve best in our accustomed place. Then let us discipline ourselves, learn day by day:—

"To steel our souls against the lust of ease;
To find our welfare in the common good;
To hold together merging all degrees
In one wide brotherhood.
To teach that he who saves himself is lost;
To bear in silence tho, our hearts may bleed:
To spend ourselves, and never count the cost,
For others greater need."
To go our quiet ways subdued and sane;
To hush all vulgar clamour of the street;
With level calm to face alike the strain
Of triumph or defeat;"
This be our part, for thus we serve you best,
So best confirm their prowess and their pride
You warrior sons, to whom in this high test
Our fortunes we confide.

Yes! So shall we come without shame to meet with them on our days of solemn remembrance, and be again of their high company. Then shall we keep faith with those who died.

Pipers Play Lament

Following the singing of the National Anthem the congregation assembled on the lawn of the Cathedral to hear the pipers of the 1st. Battalion, the Seaforth Highlanders, play the beautiful, sorrowful Lament, "The Flowers of the Forest." This is the best known of all Scottish Laments and is believed to have been written after the Battle of Flodden in 1745. It is universally used as the Funeral March of all Scottish Regiments.

Among those attending the service at the Cathedral were Mr. P. M. Broadmead, H. M. Chargé d'Affaires; Sir Herbert Phillips, H. M. Consul-General; Sir Allan Mossop, H. M. Judge; M. P. Auge, Consul-General, representing the French Consul-General; M. Roman Przedpelski, Polish Consul, representing the Polish Minister; Mr. P. Grant Jones, H. M. Assistant Judge; Mr. G. V. Kitson, H. M. Superintending Consul; Mr. E. W. Jeffery, H. M. Consul; Mr. H. H. Thomas, H. M. Consul; Maj.-Gen. F. Keith Simmons, Commander of the British Forces in the Shanghai Area; Rear-Admiral R. V. Holt, R. N., R.A.Y.; Captain Saunders, R.N., Captain James, R. N.; Colonel Armstrong and aide; Lt.-Col. G. E. Swinton, O. C. 2nd. Bn. the East Surrey Regiment, and aide; Lt.-Col. R. A. Wolfe Murray, O. C. 1st. Bn. the Seaforth Highlanders, and aide; Major B. H. Ashmore, Brigade Major, British Forces in the Shanghai Area; Major K. T. Andrews-Levigne, O. C., R.A.S.C.; Pay-Comdr. R. J. G. Prophit, R. N.; Captain M. C. Russell; Captain J. R. Cole; Lieut. Chubb, R. N.; Lieut. Brooke, R. N.; and Lieut. Wilde, R. N.

The standard of the United Services' Association at the Cathedral ceremony was borne by Mr. V. J. B. Holland, supported by Brig.-Gen. E. B. Macnaghten and Mr. A. H. Atkins, President and Chairman of the Committee respectively.

The Zero Club held an Armistice Day tiffin reception for the wives of the members at which a toast was drunk to the ladies. At the Shanghai Club the President of the Club laid a wreath at the Club memorial.

Wang Denounced As Traitor

Mme. Sun Yat-sen Brands Proposed Head of Central Government as Enemy

Manila, Nov. 12.

Wang Ching-wei, dismissed Kuomintang official who fled from Chungking to Shanghai to head the forthcoming Japanese-controlled Nanking régime, was denounced as a notorious traitor to his country here today by Madame Sun Yat-sen, widow of the founder of the Chinese Republic.

Madame Sun's attack on the former Kuomintang leader came in the form of a special article written for the "Fookien Times" and published on the eve of Dr. Sun's birthday. Madame Sun compared Wang to the notorious Yuan Shih-kai.

"As early as the time when Dr. Sun was still provisional President of China," Madame Sun said, "he outlined his idea to his followers. He said that in order to combat outside aggression, China must be socially and economically strong.

"Some of his followers expressed doubts and Dr. Sun's reply was 'If any of you have doubts on this point, it would be better for you not to join the revolution.'

Long a Waverer

"At present the greatest traitor to the Chinese National Revolution is Wang Ching-wei. Certainly ideologically he belonged to this group of unclear and wavering elements.

"At that time Wang Ching-wei was sent by Yuan Shih-kai to negotiate for the ending of the revolution. He openly said, 'Now we need no longer talk about the revolution; all we want is to get money from Yuan Shih-kai and put all our energy into railway building.'

"No wonder then that in his speech, just before his departure from Nanking, Dr. Sun expressed disappointment in the shallowness of some of his comrades in the Kuomintang. Now his disappointment in Wang Ching-wei is shared by the entire nation. How dare this national traitor continue to distort and deface Dr. Sun Yat-sen's teaching?"

Madame Sun bitterly assailed Wang's presumption to head a new "legitimate" Kuomintang under Japanese sponsorship, and sought to demonstrate that Wang had never been a faithful follower of the founder of the party.—Press.

Anita Louise, Warner Bros. Star.

WATCH FOR "ON YOUR TOES" with ZORINA and EDDIE ALBERT, a WARNER BROS. MUSICAL PRODUCTION.

You simply can't keep a prejudice against margarine once you've tasted Vitayna—its flavour is so creamy and delicious. The rich vegetable fats from which Vitayna is made supply the body with energy, but that is not all—Vitayna contains scientifically ascertained quantities of the "sunshine" vitamins A and D to protect you against illness and to help your children form strong teeth and straight bones. This troupe has just arrived from Harbin and are competent as soloists or as an ensemble. The orchestra too were in fine fettle for the occasion and, led by the two "G-Men," Geza and Gino, Schlittner (violin) and Tafet (drums) set a remarkable pace in happy vein. Their vocal efforts were no small part in the evening's jollity. Little Helga with her accordeon, rounded out the programme.

Le Ballet Russe

Le Ballet Russe, who are well known to Shanghai public for their artistic and elaborate productions, will present soon a most interesting terpsichorean interpretation of Victor Hug's masterpiece, "The Hunchback of Notre Dame."

This ballet affords an exceptional field for the display of dramatical and mimical talents as well as for the dancing interludes and ensembles. It was first produced in St. Petersbourg, then known under the name of "Esmeralda" and scored an enormous success.

Le Ballet Russe will present this ballet in a neo-modernist style, but the classical school of dancing will be displayed to the fullest extend in the second act of the ballet, where the charms of the beautiful Esmeralda win Phoebus from his fiancee, Flour de Lye. The picturization of the Parisian underworld and of many immortal personages of Victor Hugo's novel will be striking and dramatic. Every attention is being given to the special scenery forming an historical background, costumes and stage-craft.

Entertaining Floorshow

Farren's has a fine entertainment programme, aided and abetted by Fingerut's orchestra. K.C. Dung has no peer in the Far East as an entertainer. His handling of bottles, glasses, lamps and other items used in balancing turns is outstanding. Ballan takes a turn on the floor occasionally from his place on the bands and, doing a few sleight-of-hand stunts. And of course the Dani-Sisters never fail to please. A late announcement states that the Chu Yue Nan troupe of acrobats have returned for a short season.

At the Hungaria

The Hungaria, as will have been noticed from the advertising columns of this journal, states, "In safety you can enjoy our Hungarian music." The establishment as well is known for its fine Hungarian food and a delicious Continental cuisine. The orchestra is five-manstrong and when accompanied by Stella Szirmay forms an ideal musical combination. The whole band has a good musical knowledge of the accordeon and Miss Szirmay, is capable on this instrument, as well as being an accomplished violinist.

Song Cycle Sweeping Hollywood Studios

Reviving Melodies of 20 Years Ago

A great musical nostalgia seems to be sweeping America and motion pictures are taking advantage of the public's desire to grow moist-eyed as they hum the tunes of yesteryear. Some films stay solely on oldtime tunes, others sprinkle new with the old.

Filmland's first juvenile musicale, "Babes in Arms," is among the latter. Along with such fresh top songs as "Good Morning," it has no less than six melodies written seventeen years ago. Judy Garland, who started the reaching-into-the-past when she did "You Made Me Love You" in "Broadway Melody of 1938," leads the musical flash-back with "I Cried For You." Interesting is the fact that seventeen years ago it sold 400,000 piano copies. Recently reissued, it has disposed of 200,000 copies in the first two months.

Other old-timers done by July, Mickey Rooney and others are "Ida," "Shine On Harvest Moon," "Stumbling," "I'm Just Wild About Harry" and "Moonlight Bay."

Bing Crosby has just been delivering "In My Merry Oldsmobile," "School Days" and "Sunbonnet Sue," along with "Go Fly a Kite" in "The Star Maker." Film fans need only look at recent films to see the big use of past tune favourites, proof lying in such movies as "Irene and Vernon Castle."

Concert Pianist

Vladmir Havsky who will be remembered for his excellent piano recital some months ago, has announced a second recital, which will be held in the Lyceum Theatre on November 21. His programme will include selections from Bach, Beethoven, Chopin Scarlatti, Ravel, Scriabine and Glazounow.

"G-Man" Geza

Leading the Pelican orchestra and accompanying the Pelicanettes.

Excellent Musical Organization

Led by Stella Szirmay, this group of Continental musicians performs nightly at the Hungaria.

"The Man with a Load Of Mischief"

On Wednesday at 9.15 p.m., the curtain will rise at the Lyceum Theatre on Mr. Ashley Duke's dainty period play. This is the second production staged by the A.D.C. this season and is being directed by Mr. F. G. Gmehling known for his many successful productions in Shanghai. He is fortunate in having the valuable assistance of Mrs. K. E. Newman whose scenery and settings will add materially to the artistry of the play.

The scene of the play is laid in an old-fashioned country inn where, as a result of an accident on the road, four wayfarers meet and spend the night. The play is written in what approximates Elizabethan language and reports have it that the six members of the cast will give Shanghai playgoers a rare intellectual treat.

The play will be repeated on Thursday, Friday and Saturday and a matinee performance is also billed for Saturday. It should be noted that the A.D.C. will hand over the net profits on the five performances for the benefit of the United Services Association.

"Trois de St. Cyr"

In order to give an opportunity to those who could not secure their seats for the French film "Trois de St. Cyr" at the Cathay Theatre last month, arrangements have been made to present this interesting film at the Nanking Theatre on Wednesday matinees and evening.

At the Moulin Rouge

Many favourable comments were heard on the opening of the Moulin Rouge and on subsequent nights and yesterday found the premises full to capacity. This popularity attaches itself in the main to the genial hospitality of Larry Dutch and Steve Fodor, co-managers, who are always at the service of patrons. The ballroom is nicely done and the furniture is comfortable and restful, while the colour scheme and arrangement of chairs and tables is marked. Also the cocktail bar has new features which needless to say are greatly appreciated. Light orders are served, a la carte, but for the moment the management does not propose to offer regular dinner.—Tea Dance today.

Carmencita

Fred Fobau, singing violinist of European fame, is a strong attractions at the new Bolero Night Club. He is always prepared to play new or old favourites for guests. Coupled with the singing and dancing of the new Spanish artiste, Carmencita, the Bolero now has a most pleasing and satisfactory floorshow. Music for dancing is furnished by Harry Fisher's Swing Band, theinstrumentation of which includes two grand pianos. Carmencita opened her engagement last Wednesday and has been cordially received. She presents a variety of dances, including Spanish, tap, Hawaiian and novelty dances.

Opening Picture at Roxy Theatre

"Babes in Arms" with Juvenile Favourites

"Babes in Arms," an M-G-M musicale starring juvenile favourites, Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland, has been selected as the picture to open the new Roxy Theatre, now nearing completion near the corner of Bubbling Well and Carter Roads.

The exact date of the Roxy opening has not yet been determined but it will be either in the last week of the current month or early in December. Actual construction work has been completed and all that remains to be done to place the theatre in shape for opening is the installation of equipment and seats.

"Babes in Arms," rated as one of the best Mickey Rooney films, is based on the Broadway success of a couple of seasons ago by the same name. It tells the story of how vaudeville passed out of the entertainment picture. When the old time headliners were up against it, their youngsters, including Mickey and Judy, came to the rescue, bringing with them a modern viewpoint and a talent that was inborn.

The subject forms a natural structure for a picture in which Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer introduces almost all of its large group of juvenile players. In addition to Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland, in the cast are Betty Jaynes, Douglas McPhail, June Preisser, Leni Lynn, John Sheffield and Robert Spindola, as well as 20 other youngsters. Prominent also are Charles Winninger and Grace Hayes as Mickey's parents; Henry Hull as the stage producer and Guy Kibbee as the friendly Judge Blake.

Well-Known Singer Giving Concert

Mr. Nicolai Schwarz who is giving a concert at the American Woman's Club on Thursday, at 9 p.m., formerly was a member of the operas in New York, Chicago, Vienna and Berlin. He will sing works by Chopin, Delibes, Leoncavallo, Moussorgski, Rubinstein, Schwarz, Thomas, Verdi and others, and will be accompanied at the piano by Mr. Loewenberger. Bookings may be made at Moutrie's and at the Lyra Music House.

"Duchess of Chicago"

Orlovskaya heads the cast of "Duchess of Chicago," Russian Light Opera presentation, which makes its final bow tonight at the Lyceum. Valin, of course, is a great favourite while Kudinoff is popular as ever. Supporting players include Larina and Gaidaroff. Seroff and Manjelei lead the ballet in several terpsichorean items.

"Conspiracy"

Linda Hayes has a prominent role at the Metropol today.

Benchley Fears He's Not Funny

A funny man's life isn't all fun. Listen a moment to the plaint of Bob Benchley. "I have," says Benchley, simply, "trouble being funny."

A strange statement for the maker of some of the funniest short subjects (remember "How to Sleep?") in film history.

But he explains:

"Everyone I talk to," and his voice has a note of sadness, "expects me to be side-splitting. If I'm not, they either look down-right disappointed or give me a bored glance which says: 'Humph, what ever made me think he was funny?'"

Benchley's picture-making methods are unique. He writes his material at home. One short may require only a few days, another weeks. Then he goes to the studio. Working at top speed, he completes two "quickies" in four days. Then he's through for another three months.

Under a contract for eight shorts a year, he thus spends sixteen days on one of Metro's sound sets. The other 349 are his own.

Come February Walter Wanger expects to get started on a $2,000,000 picturization of the Jules Verne classic "Around the World in Eighty Days." Mr. Wanger would like to have Ronald Colman play the lead role and now is negotiating with the actor. Meanwhile, the script is being shaped for the cameras by Jacques Thery. The story was first published in 1874 in "Le Temps" and though staged successfully in Paris it has never before been filmed —at least, not according to available records.

Fluttering Hands

Zasu Pitts has had a highly successful career which she might perhaps regard as an unfortunate one. A few years ago it might well seem that no picture could be complete without her and her fluttering hands. Audiences were delighted with her and hailed her with downright affection. But their laughter must have meant something like unhappiness to their object. For Zasu Pitts intended to be a serious actress. How serious, and how able she could be was shown in "Greed," in which she displayed a gift for tragedy which doubtless most people have forgotten nowadays.

Now she has reminded us of her serious possibilities in "Nurse Edith Cavell." At the preview, when she made her appearance on the screen, the audience assumed that she was going to be funny once more. But very soon they changed their minds. Zasu Pitts had become a real actress again, and not a comedienne in spite of herself displaying a little gamut of beloved mannerisms. It is not generally known that Miss Pitts' unusual forename is a combination of the last syllable of Eliza and first syllable of Susan.

Roxy Night Club

At this diminutive but cosy night spot three melody-masters delight and entertain patrons nightly with their exceedingly diverse and colourful repertoire.

Charles is the pianist, whose fingers have a light, sure touch on the ivory keys; James is equally versatile at the saxophone, clarinet and the accordeon, and he also has a pleasant voice; Jack is the rhythmic drummer. These three have had years of experience in entertaining and their knowledge of what most pleases an audience is something any night club might covet.

There is a delightfully enchanting atmosphere about the Roxy that is difficult to explain, but as a criterion the management is proud to say that people who once visit come back again and again.

TRAVELOGUE SERIES—No. 26

MINNEAPOLIS

THE fair state of Minnesota has been christened "The Land of Ten Thousand Lakes," the aptness of which is impressed upon the traveler as, whirling his way across the continent in his luxurious train, he passes countless lakes dotted with sailing craft and power boats .... lakes whose shores slope gently down to sand beaches .... lakes that narrow into silvery streams and shadowy arbors, the canoeist's paradise.

It would be most pleasant, indeed, to tarry here — or to make an excursion into the rugged Arrowhead country to the north, but the visitor, following the route of the famous "Empire Builder," speeds on to Minneapolis, the commercial metropolis of its state and the greater of the pair of famed Twin Cities.

Minneapolis is the greatest small-grain market in the world and rightly famous for its flour. But Minneapolis is more than the "World's Miller"—it is one of the loveliest residential cities of America. Here are extensive parks covering one-tenth of the city's area; here, too, are the Falls of St. Anthony, the Minnehaha Falls immortalized by Longfellow, and a chain of sparkling lakes linked by boulevards and waterways.

St. Paul, the other twin city, is picturesquely situated on the many hills and bluffs that hem the Mississippi at the head of navigation. On one such hill stands the state capitol; on another St. Paul's Cathedral. Visitors who stop at St. Paul visit the ancient Indian mounds, Sibley House, and the old round fort (1819) at Fort Snelling, famous army post.

Thus, the twin cities afford thoroughly modern and comfortable vacation facilities for the visitor. Fine hotels, a variety of choice restaurants and modern shops in the cities; excursions for those with a penchant for exploration and sightseeing; sandy beaches and a host of beautiful lakes ideal for sailing whose fame has been sung both in poetry and prose.

To those about to depart on Home or Long Leave, the American Express offers its services gratis, in arranging a complete itinerary. Fund protection also is provided—through safe, inexpensive, loss-proof American Express Travellers' Cheques. Write, telephone or drop in and American Express travel experts gladly will place at your disposal the world-wide facilities of American Express.

St. Andrew's Society New Committees

President's Dinner at Shanghai Club

On Friday evening, Mr. Alexander Pollock, president at St. Andrew's Society, entertained the new committee to dinner at the Shanghai Club. Those present were Mr. T. Hutchison, vice-president Dr. H. C. Patrick, Messrs. Rod. G. MacDonald, Ranald McDonald, J. Macbeth, N. C. Macgregor, W. J. Keswick, R. M. Currie, C. B. Blaikie, H. R. Cleland, J. McNeill, L. G. Murray-Kidd T. Robertson, J. T. Shields, A. Y. Tait, J. D. Watt, and T. W. R. Wilson.

Mr. C. B. Blaikie was re-elected hon. secretary for the ensuing year, but it was noted with regret that Mr. A. M. Kennedy would be unable to take over the duties of hon. treasurer, as he was to be transfered to Hongkong at an early date.

The standing Committees were made up as follows:—Executive: Messrs. W. J. Keswick (chairman); N. C. Macgregor and Brig.-Gen. E. B. Macnaghten. Charity: Dr. H. Couper Patrick (chairman); Messrs. Rod. G. MacDonald, J. Macbeth, H. R. Cleland and Dr. T. M. Burton. Bursary: Dr. H. Couper Patrick (chairman); Messrs. H. R. Cleland R. M. Currie and Hugh Martin. Membership: A. Y. Tait (chairman) Messrs. The annual church service on St. Andrew's Sunday and the wreath laying ceremony on St. Andrew's Day would take place as usual and the president would launch an appeal for funds in aid of the Society's charity fund.

Dr. Couper Patrick thanked the president on behalf of the committee for his hospitality and the president's health was drunk with enthusiasm.

Japanese Emperor at Manœuvres

WEDDING

Huebner-Kimball

The wedding took place yesterday evening at Community Church of Mr. Allyn Gilbert Huebner, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Huebner, sen., of Wisconsin, and Miss Arra Jean Kimball, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Kimball, of Shanghai. Dr. J. L. Caughey officiated.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with white chrysanthemums, palms and ferns, while the glow of candles, which formed part of the decorative scheme, gave added picturesqueness to the ceremony.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a period gown of white brocaded satin, patterned with chrysanthemums, the gown having a bustle effect and train, while her long veil fell from a Dutch cap trimmed with orange blossoms. She carried a posy of white chrysanthemums and tuberoses surrounded with a frill of pleated tulle, in keeping with the period of her gown.

The bridesmaid was Miss Judith Ann Watson, who wore a blue stiff satin dress laced with blue velvet ribbon, the skirt being bouffant. There were three matrons of honour, in bustled period dresses of brocaded satin, each in a different colour—Mrs. J. G. Cheatham in yellow, Mrs. L. D. Patterson in peach, and Mrs. J. Y. Honeycut in green. Both bridesmaid and matrons of honour wore small pancake hats trimmed with pleated tulle and velvet ribbons to match their dresses. They carried old-fashioned posies of button chrysanthemums and violets.

Mr. T. J. Ligon was best man, and the ushers were Messrs. L. D. Patterson, J. G. Cheatham, R. D. Smith, J. Y. Honeycutt, W. H. Bass, W. F. Fielden, J. R. Milton and R. A. Kimball.

The bride's mother wore a gown of wine lace with a plumed velvet hat of the same colour, while her bouquet was of wine-coloured chrysanthemums.

Mrs. W. B. Newsome, who represented the bridegroom's absent family, was dressed in black velvet, with a gold hat, another golden accent being given by her bouquet of chrysanthemums.

After the ceremony, which took place at 6 p.m., a reception was held at the American Club.

131 Feared Dead In Mine Disaster

Efforts Continue to Save Others; Little Hope Held

Tokyo, Nov. 11.

At least 131 miners were killed yesterday when fire and gas spread through the Matsuno sulphur mine in Iwane Prefecture after 215 miners had been entombed by a collapsing shaft, it was disclosed early today.

Late last night officials on the scene of the disaster announced that 112 persons had been accounted for. These included 36 men safe, 28 dead recovered and 48 seriously injured miners who were removed from the pit. An estimated 103 men still were entombed and believed dead.

Families of the miners crowded around the mine after news of the disaster spread late on Friday and kept a tearful vigil throughout the night. Hopes of rescuing the 103 men still in the mine were virtually abandoned today, however.

Rescue crews were quickly organized in an effort to free the men still in the mine, but fire and gas hampered rescue operations. Blasting operations were to begin early today in an effort to break through to the shaft in which the men were entombed.—United Press.

Refugee Arbitration Court Opposed

Prominent Chinese Lawyer Addresses Bar Association

In a letter addressed to the Shanghai Bar Association, Mr. Tsai Siao-pei, prominent Chinese lawyer, requests that the recently-established Court of Arbitration for Jewish refugees should be investigated, according to reports appearing in the Chinese press. In the letter, the attorney alleges that among the regulations governing the newly-established court, is a stipulation that all refugees, receiving subsidies from the Committee looking after them, are subject to the jurisdiction of the court of arbitration in all civil matters and that, in the event of this jurisdiction not being recognized by the parties concerned, all assistance from the Committee's funds may be stopped.

In his letter, Mr. Tsai points out that only lawyers duly registered with the court of arbitration, may represent litigants. The court of arbitration, in passing judgment, does not abide by Chinese law, Mr. Tsai further alleges.

The court of arbitration, as far as could be learned yesterday, was established recently to enable litigants to come to terms without submitting their cases to the Chinese courts, a procedure which is not only expensive but which would also reflect badly on the refugees as a whole. The court consists of judges and arbitrators, who have offered to lend their services in an honorary capacity, and all of them have been residents of Shanghai for many years. Fees collected if any are to go towards various charitable causes among the refugee community.

Japanese Sailor Carried Off

River Bandits Attack Two Ships on Yangtze; Cargoes Looted by Chinese

Nanking, Nov. 11.

A Japanese merchant sailor was abducted and $110 in cash and 20 large jars of wine were stolen by 20 Chinese river bandits in a raid on two China Inland Navigation Company boats on the Yangtze on Thursday.

Kidnapped was Mr. Yoshihiro Onoye, a former first-class seaman in the Japanese navy.

The bandits boarded the two boats, the Feng Hsien Maru and the Ai Fei Li Maru, near Ssuyuankow in the vicinity of Yiching, south-west of Yangchow.

Drawing pistols, the bandits forced the Chinese loadah to steer the vessels upstream to Shamanchow.

Mr. Onoye jumped into the water and tried to escape, but he was captured and returned to the boat.

Arriving at Shamanchow, additional members of the bandit gang boarded the boats and carried away the cargo, consisting mostly of samshui or Chinese Shaoshing wine, and about $110 in cash.

Members of the crew reported the abduction and theft to Japanese authorities at Nanking later in the day. A search is now underway for the kidnapped sailor and the bandits.

Mr. Onoye is a representative of the company at its Chinkiang office. He joined the shipping firm two months ago after the completion of his military service in the Japanese navy. He is 28 years old.

The two boats were en route from Chinkiang to Nanking when the bandits attacked.—Domei.

Guerillas in Hainan Rounded Up

Eighty Chinese soldiers were killed in the vicinity of Meitai in the northern part of Hainan Island in mopping-up operations by a Japanese naval landing party aided by the naval air units during the past few days, according to a communiqué issued by the Japanese China Sea Fleet headquarters.

A Japanese naval air unit, in co-operation with army forces, routed about 200 Chinese at Mokong, north of Jungki, on the bank of the Pearl River on Thursday, the communiqué said.

Naval aeroplanes aiding Japanese army forces in mopping-up operations in northern Kiangsu province damaged Chinese bases in the vicinity of Lake Kaoyu on Friday the communiqué stated.

Friday's Closing Quotations

New York, Nov. 10.

Firm conditions prevailed in the cotton market, with quotations early advancing on higher Liverpool cables, speculative support and foreign buying. Later, the advance was accentuated by the firmness of "spots" and trade buying. Closing quotations ranged from 5 to 14 points up, compared with the previous final levels.

Trading was fairly active in the market for raw rubber futures on evidence of more speculative support, a good primary demand and foreign dealers buying. At the last call over, quotations were from no change to 17 points up from yesterday.

The strength of Winnipeg cables had a sustaining influence in the Chicago Grain Pit, while the bullish world wheat situation was also a favourable factor. At the final bell, gains in wheat values from 1⅛ to 1¼ cents were recorded.

New York Stocks

Friday's Closing Quotations

New York, Nov. 10.

Prices on the New York Stock Exchange closed with mostly minor fractions either way, whilst one point changes were very few. Despite the plethora of favourable business news, the market fluctuated uncertainly with sentiment inclined to be bearish. Talk of foreign liquidation, partly from Amsterdam, was a restraining influence.

Meanwhile, it is believed that the first reaction of the market to a German invasion of Holland would be bearish.

The volume of trading today amounted to 1,090,000 shares.—Reuter.

Dow-Jones Summary

By Courtesy of Swan, Culbertson & Fritz

The development of a firmer tone was noted on the Stock Exchange today after a series of uncertain price movements. Trading showed an increase, but was light compared to Wall Street's ideas of a profitable market. Most experts believed that the firming was purely a technical factor, in view of he approach of the holiday.

By Courtesy of Swan, Culbertson & Fritz

Stock prices have declined almost without interruption during the past week and the market as a whole closed on Thursday at its lowest level since September 18. Profit taking developed in the aviation issues which have recently been the strongest group and the peace appeal by Queen Wilhelmina and King Leopold was responsible for easiness in other "war babies" also. The failure of this appeal was disregarded by the market and fears that Germany may invade the Netherlands produced further weakness. The domestic labour outlook caused some apprehension and the decision by the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals upholding the National Labour Relations Board decree ordering Republic Steel to reinstate 5,000 striking employees and pay them some $7,500,000 in back wages was another depressing influence. Liquidation was fairly well absorbed however, and though trading was relatively active, it was chiefly in the low priced issues with the usual market leaders generally neglected.

Commodities generally displayed a steady tone. Wheat prices were practically unchanged and the persistence of the drought was a sustaining influence. Cotton advanced on the loan announcement but rubber for distant deliveries—in contrast to nears—declined on the belief that supplies during the forthcoming months will be readily available. Hides were irregular and sugar was quiet with little net change.

Most of the business news was good and activity throughout the fourth quarter is certain to be at a high level with department store sales perhaps the best on record. Electricity output and car loadings receded but operations in the steel industry improved and steel output for the month of October was a record. General industrial activity is expected to decline during the first quarter of 1940 but the rate of operations for the entire year should be well above the 1939 average though probably below the rate for the current quarter. Domestic political developments were unimportant though the defeat of the "$30 Every Thursday" plan in the California elections on Tuesday helped a few individual issues with interests in that state.

Stock Outlook: The stock market outlook has deteriorated slightly from last week and the speculative activity in low priced shares is not a favourable indication from a technical point of view. Until, however, the averages break through their recent highs or lows, no conclusive indication will be available from the action of the market itself as to its near term trend. Moderate positions on the long side appear justified but commitments should not be overextended and some buying power should he held in reserve to take advantage of the opportunities which will be offered if prices recede to lower levels.

Paris Bourse

Paris, Nov. 10.

The Bourse opened briskly this morning with prices rising amid active exchanges. During the session, stocks continued their upward trend despite increasing sales towards the close, which was irregular.

Dutch issues were most active.—Havas.

The following particulars in connection with vessels due to arrive to-day are based upon information available yesterday evening

From NEW YORK: Gertrude Maersk, due about 9 a.m. Shanghai and Hongkew Wharf.
From KEELUNG: Tyosa Maru, due a.m. O. S. K. Wharf.
From DAIREN: Hoten Maru, with mail, due between 2-3 p.m. Whangpo Wharf.

Due at Future Dates

All vessels are listed under their terminal port. The first date is that of the ship's departure from that port, and the second is the date she is due to arrive in Shanghai Where a ship's name is duplicated it indicates the port of call last visited.

On account of the present international situation there is considerable interference with movements of ships, especially those from Europe. In cases where it is definitely known that the vessel is not running to schedule the Shanghai arrival date is omitted.

THE DESTROYER

An impressive picture taken on board a fast British destroyer sweeping the U-boats from the Seven Seas. Equipped with mechanical "ears" and other aids to detect the lurking submarine, and armed with quick-firing guns and the dreaded depth charge, the destroyer has well earned its fearful name.

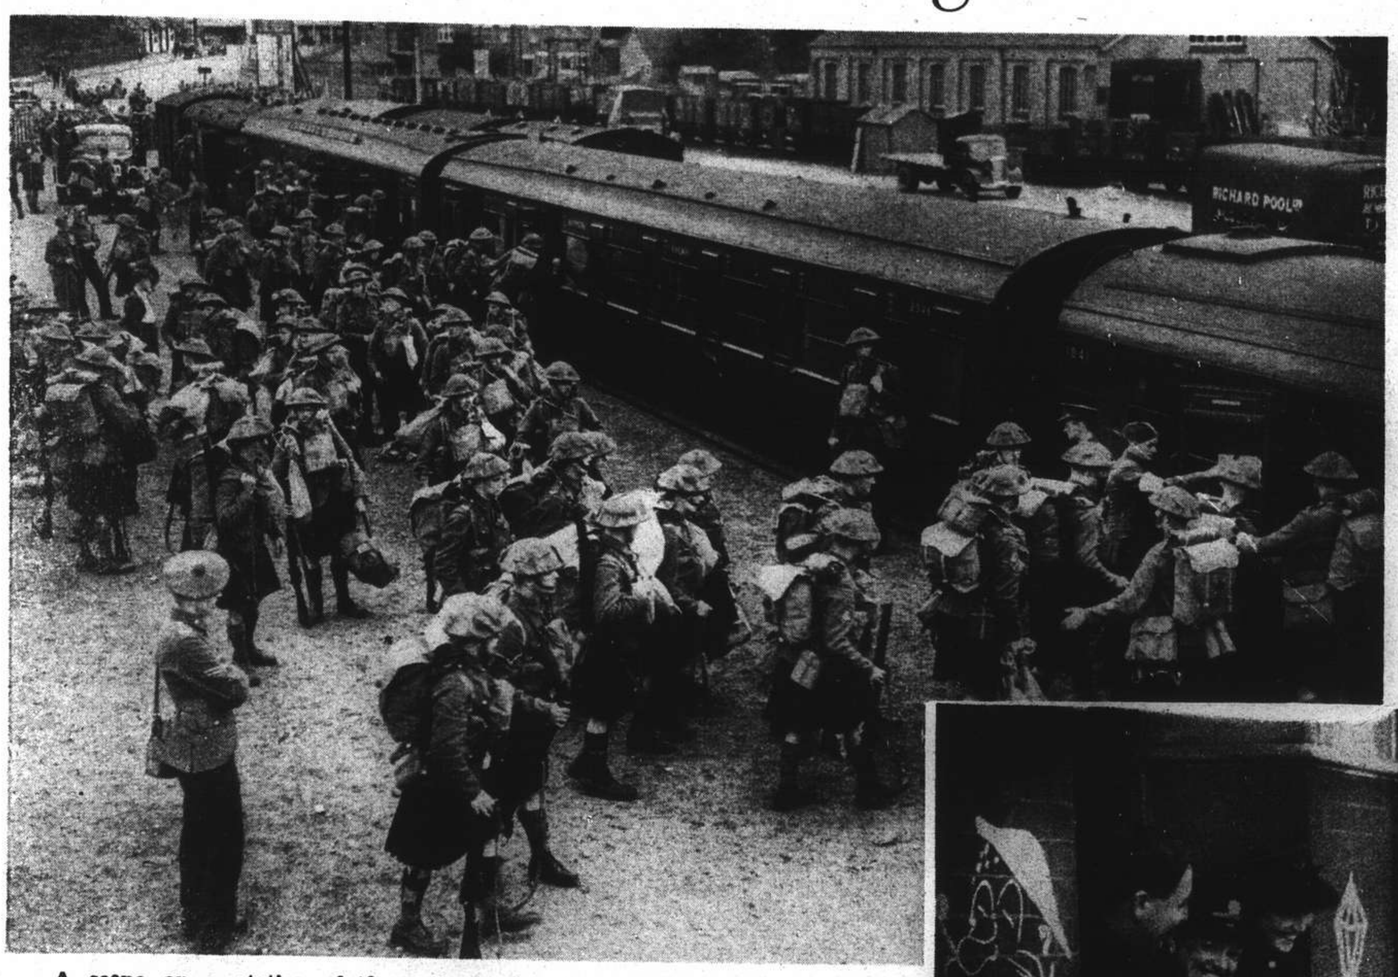
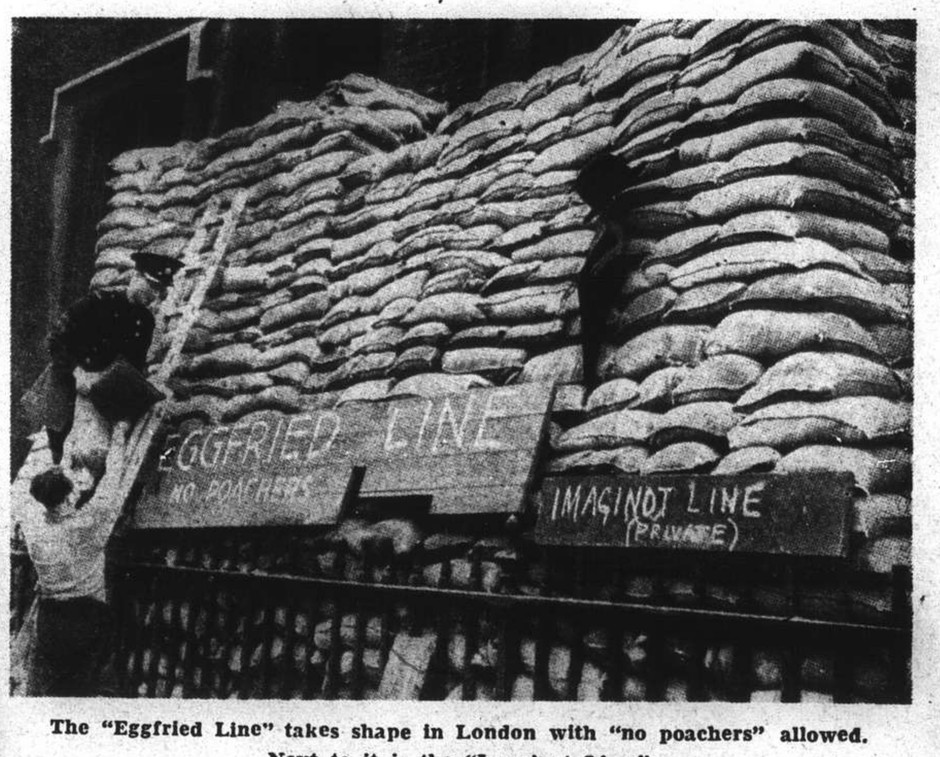
KARL MARX—STALIN VERSION

Pictures from England



A scene on a station platform "somewhere" in England as a kilted regiment of the British Army entrained for France.



The "Eggfried Line" takes shape in London with "no poachers" allowed. Next to it is the "Imaginot Line."

Guests and hotel staff gather in the Abraham Lincoln room of the Savoy Hotel during an air-raid alarm. The two guests on the right are Messrs. M. A. Cushman and Vernon W. Foster, both Americans.

Women from all walks of life are responding in a magnificent way to the Government's appeal for recruits for the Women's Land Army. Here are some typical helpers on a Hampshire farm.

This Englishwoman has covered her gas-mask container with the same plaid cloth as her jacket.

A batch of newly-recruited militiamen watch a squad of troops marching and drilling on the parade ground.

A Policeman's Lot

VIGNETTES OF LIFE

By KEMP STARRETT

NO, A POLICEMAN'S LOT IS NOT A HAPPY ONE.... ESPECIALLY WHEN, IN THE LINE OF DUTY, HE HAS TO COME BETWEEN A MAN AND WIFE ENJOYING A NICE LITTLE PRIVATE BRAWL.

THE FOLKS WHO TRY TO LAUGH OFF A 'TICKET' FOR SPEEDING DON'T ADD MUCH TO A COP'S SUM TOTAL OF JOY.

THE ONES WHO HAVE TO ARGUE ABOUT EVERY REGULATION DON'T MAKE A POLICEMAN'S LIFE ANY BED OF ROSES, EITHER.

AND WHEN HE DOES MAKE AN ARREST THE GOOD CITIZENS OFTEN MAKE HIM FEEL LIKE A HARD-HEARTED VILLAIN.

STARRETT.

THE FOREIGN-LANGUAGE POPULATION IS VERY TRYING..... ESPECIALLY WHEN TRYING TO GET SOME PLACE.

IT KEEPS A COP WORRIED: MAYBE THE PEST REALLY DOES KNOW THE CHIEF INTIMATELY.

SEEING THE KIDS SAFELY THROUGH TRAFFIC PUTS THE GRAY HAIRS ON A POLICEMAN'S HEAD.
